WESTERN HILLS HIGH SCHOOL
CINCINNATI . OHIO

FOREWORD

CRESTING THE TOPS AND NESTLING IN THE VALLEYS OF THE SEVEN HILLS FRONTING THE BEAUTIFUL OHIO, LIES THE QUEEN CITY, CINCINNATI. IN ANCIENT PIONEER DAYS SHE WAS CROWNED QUEEN OF THE NEW WESTERN EMPIRE. TODAY WE FEEL HER TITLE APPLIES IN A NEW SENSE, THAT SHE TRULY REIGNS BECAUSE OF SCENIC BEAUTY; JUST AND UNBIASED ADMINISTRATION OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS; UNEXCELLED EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES; ACKNOWLEDGED PATRONAGE AND APPRECIATION OF MUSIC, ART, DRAMA, AND LITERATURE; AND AMAZING NEW DEVELOPMENTS AND OPPORTUNITIES IN THE COMMERCIAL FIELD. THEREFORE, WE, THE SENIORS OF WESTERN HILLS, HAVE CHOSEN "CIVIC PRIDE" AS THE THEME OF OUR 1931 ANNUAL, AND ARE ATTEMPTING TO SHOW IN OUR BOOK WHY WE ARE JUSTLY PROUD OF OUR CITY'S ADVANTAGES IN THE VARIOUS FIELDS. WE HAVE ATTEMPTED TO TIE UP THE LIFE OF OUR SCHOOL WITH THE LIFE OF THE CITY, TO SHOW THAT OUR ACTIVITIES HERE ARE ONLY PREPARATION TO ENABLE US TO CARRY ON THE LARGER PROJECTS WHICH GIVE CINCINNATI HER HIGH RANK AS A LOVER OF THE ARTISTIC THINGS OF LIFE AND MAKE HER THE CITY WITHOUT LIMITATIONS.

DEDICATION

RANDALL J. CONDON

TO RANDALL J. CONDON, idealist, writer, nationally known figure in educational fields, who, during his many years as superintendent of schools, always enthusiastically and ably supported and abetted all the projects of this city which stood for improvement and the advancement of human welfare, who was proud of her eminence in governmental, educational, and artistic endeavors, and contributed much to her growth and fame, we, the Seniors of the class of 1931, respectfully dedicate this year-book. We hope it will serve as a reminder to him of the city he loved and served, and of our affectionate remembrance of him.

WE will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city's laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul or to set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty.

The School as a Preparation for Citizenship

By C. A. DYKSTRA, City Manager, Cincinnati

In the modern world all of us are citizens and cannot help it. We either enter life as citizens, or in the course of time take on citizenship. In a sense, we live two lives—one as individual, economic and social units, and the other as citizens, participators in a great public enterprise.

It has been a commonplace in the field of education that the school

C. A. DYKSTRA

must prepare us for living our individual lives. We now realize that since the school is our most important training ground, it must undertake also to prepare us for this common enterprise of citizenship. As life becomes more complex each year, the things we must do together through political or governmental agencies increase in number and in difficulty. More and more we must approach our common problems with trained intelligence. Our City is calling to its young men and women year after year for effective and informed service. In proportion as the schools graduate young men and women who understand their duties as citizens and assume their obligations in our industrial society, they meet a fundamental need.

May I bring to the Western Hills High School, its teachers and students, the challenge of modern municipal life, and urge upon you consideration of this growing opportunity that the school has to guide the destinies of the public life of the future.

March 20, 1931.

Our Aims in Training for Citizenship

By B. H. SIEHL, Principal

"To the school is entrusted the training of the citizen of the future." This trite statement is so often repeated that its deep importance almost eludes us. It is a real challenge to the school of today. How are our schools meeting it? Let us, in this connection, consider the school we know best. How is Western Hills High School meeting this challenge?

Although we are often told that facts learned at school are soon forgotten, we must admit that the curriculum is the basis of school work. The well rounded development which comes from an absorption of languages, history, science, and mathematics makes the most worthwhile citizen. The effort which is expended in gaining this knowledge is most valuable character training.

How does he use his leisure time? More and more this is coming to be a test. Western Hills meets this challenge of the new day by offering opportunities to each one so to develop himself that he may use leisure time to advantage:—courses in art, instruction of music, vocal and instrumental, opportunity to play in band and orchestra, to become acquainted with the great music of all time; participation in athletic events for those whose tastes turn to sports; club periods which are compulsory where one must develop a real hobby. If it is neither art nor music it may be flowers, bird life, dramatics, photography, manual work and a score of other possibilities. This must develop a weapon against the wasteful use of precious time.

Life in a large school is life in a small community. It demands the give and take of every day existence. The spirit of the amateur is rife at Western Hills. Without thought of recompense our boys and girls devote themselves ungrudgingly to athletics, to activities of all kinds, to acts of kindness and fellowship. A pride which all feel in the school, a loyalty which the school demands and affection for a "loved mother" prompt all to do and give their best.

So through the knowledge gained from the curriculum, the development which comes from difficult tasks well done, training for the proper use of leisure time, and experiences which train for a community life, Western Hills is trying to develop the citizen for the city that is to be.

B. H. SIEHL

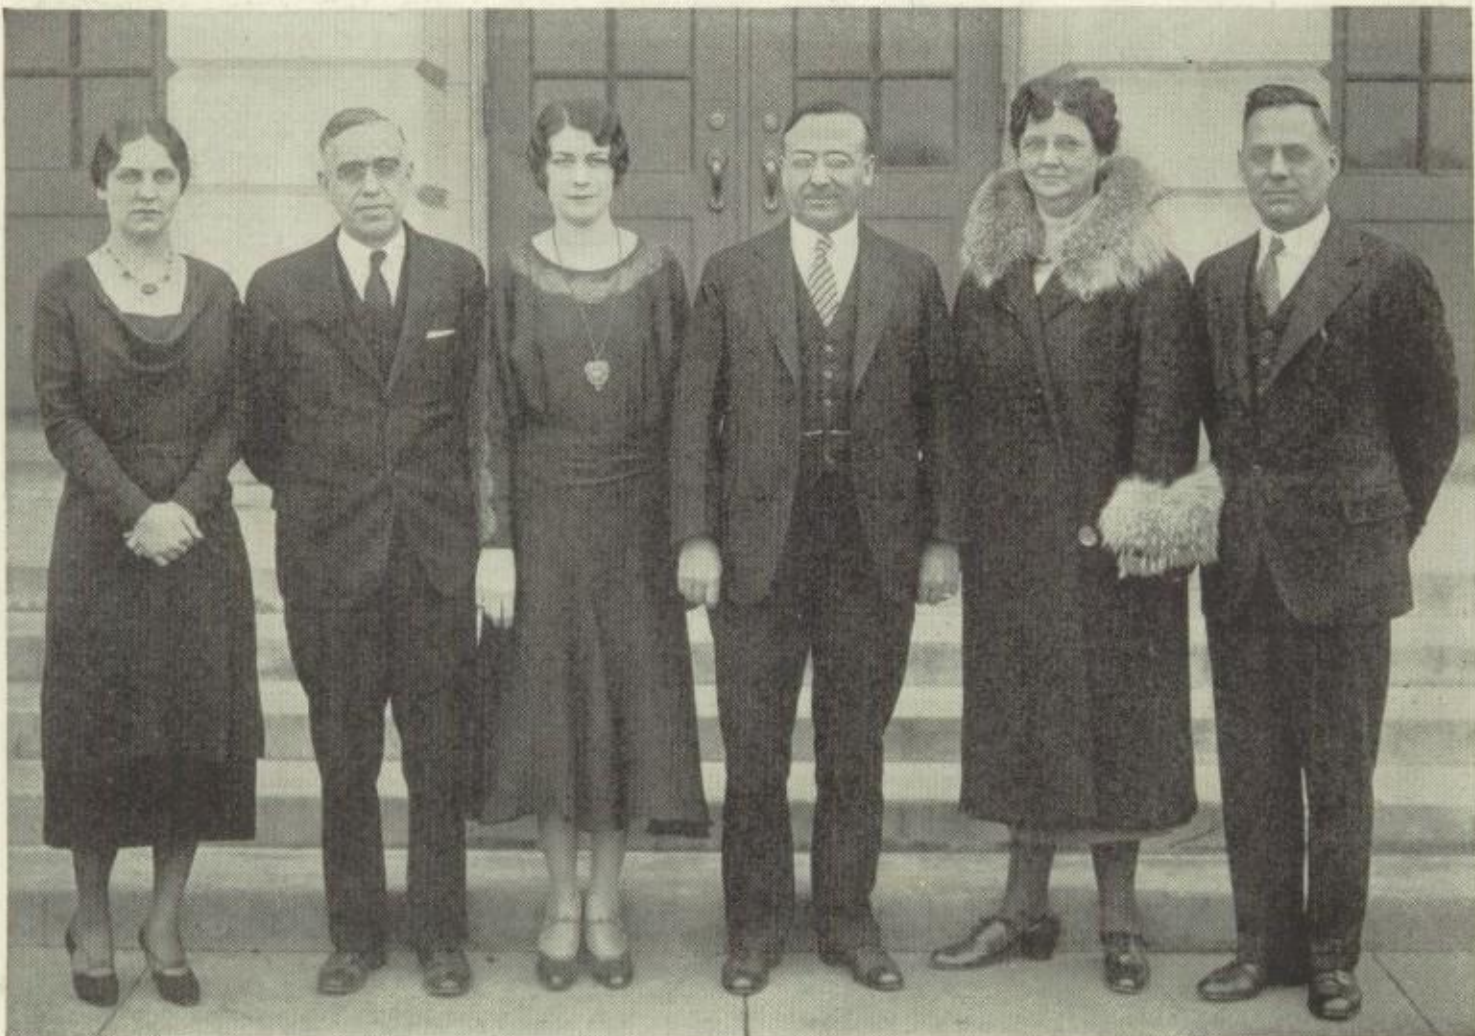

Vocational Guidance and Civic Responsibility

EACH boy and girl in Western Hills High School is a potential future leader of his community. His opportunity for assuming responsibility in civic affairs depends largely on his ability to succeed in his own work. The Vocational Guidance program at Western Hills will endeavor to aid each pupil in formulating some plan for his future school and work. As the program grows, each boy and girl will have the opportunity to study occupations and to make his plan with the aid of the vocational counselor in the school. Those who plan most carefully in school may hope to be the successful and happy citizens of the future. The right job means a chance to use special abilities, the satisfaction of work well done, the opportunity to do the best work for the community. In doing this, each pupil will have attained success, not only in satisfying his own desires, but also in contributing to Cincinnati a citizenship of which our city may be proud

—MARY J. DRUCKER, Vocational Counselor.

The English Department

IN TRAINING girls and boys for future American citizenship, the teacher finds no subject more essential than English, with its wealth of associations and its multi-lingual synonyms. If the pupil is preparing for a profession or the field of letters, his need for equipment in a cultural literature and in the spoken and written idiomatic speech of his country is obvious; but it is none the less necessary in the business world, where the law of survival of the fittest unerringly operates. The fittest, or best equipped, is marked by superior vision, logical thinking, clear forceful presentation of ideas—all of which may be fostered through the study of English. The purpose of teaching in general is to fit pupils to adjust themselves to their future life environments. English not only contributes its share to this training, but it also opens, through the acquired powers of self-expression, limitless possibilities for the individual.—B. B. HARPER.

The Foreign Language Department

IF WE are to aspire to a Cincinnati which will be "a city without limitations," its citizens must have a culture that will make this possible. Certainly those who have studied a foreign language should have a vision which sees far beyond the hills of Cincinnati, to Spain, to Germany, to France, and to the "glory that was Rome."

Our school offers four-year courses in French, in German, and in Spanish. In Latin, besides the regular four-year course, there is an exploratory course offered to all pupils of the eighth grade, to determine what pupils may continue their study of a language with profit. There is also a select group beginning Latin in the seventh grade.

In the teaching of all these languages, though we may borrow from the best the past has to offer, our aims and methods are in conformity with what is officially accepted as the best modern thought.—LUELLA G. FOUCH.

The Social Studies Department

THE teachers of social science realize that from the teaching of social science our boys and girls get most of their conceptions and beliefs concerning government, democracy, nationalism and internationalism. In fact the fruits of society are grown from social, economic and political food from these studies.

We hope to develop in the pupil a spirit of co-operation with others in patriotic, wise, and uplifting service; and this, it is thought, may best be done by presenting great leaders as examples worthy of imitation.

It is felt that every effort should be made to imbue every boy and girl with the fundamental principles and ideals for which America has always stood, that they may understand the foundation of their democracy, and the deep significance of American citizenship. All of this we hope may lead our boys and girls to aspire to such national and international ideals and relationships as will best work toward the achievements of love of justice, peace, and democracy throughout the whole world.—T. E. FOUCH.

Top row, left to right: Heis, Fouch, Mouk, Slutz.
First row: Wills, Poe, Long.

The Science Department

TEACHERS of science, whether it be physical or biological, or a combination of these, have one great advantage, or one less task. "Science" seems to be a magic word to the average student, a key-hole to endless adventures. For this reason, our task is lighter. We do not need to create an interest in the average, normal boy or girl—it is here.

It becomes our duty then, to direct this interest—intelligent curiosity, if you will, along profitable and worth while lines. Whether we are trying to make clear the life processes of plants or animals, or simplify the mysteries of electricity, or illustrate the use of chemical equations, or delve into the mysteries of the heavens or of the earth, is an indifferent matter. Through any and all of these fields, we reach toward the same goals: appreciation of what we have and have developed, ability to distinguish the real from the false, and willingness to set a goal and refuse to quit until it is attained.

By our efforts toward these objectives we hope to contribute our bit in the Great Plan, and possibly start on his or her way, some future Newton, Pasteur, Mme. Curie, or Herman Schneider. —MARY DE ARMOND.

The Mathematics Department

THE teachers of mathematics at the Western Hills High School aim to develop in their students an understanding and an appreciation of the need of mathematical equipment. An effort is being made to make the work broad enough to interest all students and sufficiently intensive to offer encouragement to those who have special attitudes and abilities and who may plan to enter into fields of advanced study. Pupils are urged to bring into class for solution problems of their home, school, or community life. Problems in physics, surveying, simple engineering, and statistics are solved. Pupils are taught to become proficient both in interpreting and expressing by graph, statistical data. They gradually acquire the ability to discriminate and generalize. They learn to think clearly and logically, and to express their thoughts correctly, connectedly, and to the point. Because of daily practice in reflective thinking, the students of mathematics are being prepared to solve new and unforeseen problems in life.

The Commercial Department

COMMERCE is the basis of human activities. By it we mean that we are able to judge the progress and industry of nations. Every child will eventually be a spoke in the wheel of industry. The Commercial Department attempts to meet this need by training the normal youth in commerce with such knowledge and skill as will enable him to earn a living in a recognized business activity. The course of study is made to fit the pupil and not for the pupil to fit the course. Every unit of the course is complete in itself. A student taking the first year's work in the Senior High School has enough knowledge or training to be ranked as a junior clerk. In the Junior High Schools all students in the eighth grade secure a general knowledge of business from the course of General Business Training required of all entrants.

Thus the Commercial Department serves a double purpose giving both a general and a technical education, the one objective being efficient citizenship.

—DALE ZELLER.

COMMERCIAL FACULTY

The Industrial Arts Department

BY PROVIDING opportunities for exploring and discovering abilities and capacities through contact with various fundamental and industrial processes and by the development of a reasonable amount of manipulative skill and technical information, the Industrial Arts Department makes a distinct contribution towards better citizenship. Through his experiences in the diversified industrial laboratories of Western Hills High School the student gains a good insight into many social, economic and technical problems and acquires a valuable appreciation of the industrial world.

—H. HERRLE

The Household Arts Department

HOUSEHOLD ARTS deals primarily with the activities that involve the home life of the girl. Its courses are designed to give a broader knowledge of home making and its relation to industry, child care, health, nutrition, clothing, and shelter. The girls are led to realize the advisability of training for two vocations, home making and industry. This course helps the girl to become a better consumer, producer, and home maker in the community.

—WILMA DEITEMEIER.

Top row, left to right: Deitemeier, A. Schick, Schwenker, Beard.
First row: Lambirth, Clark, Herrle, Rabe, Abercrombie, Klippel.

The Music Department

THE department of vocal music aims to give the pupils of Western Hills an appreciation of music which will enrich their leisure hours by regular class instruction and the activities of the Junior and Senior Choral Clubs. The instrumental music department offers both individual and class instruction in any instrument of the band and orchestra. The Western Hills Band is prominent in all local and city-wide activities and the Junior and Senior orchestras are the center of all school programs.—A. V. MCFEE.

The Art Department

BY REVEALING the treasures of the world of art, by developing the imagination, and by refining the taste, the department of art attempts to place living on a higher plane. When our boys and girls become the citizens of tomorrow, we hope that for them the ugly, the unfit, and the unwholesome will have no place, but that their inner life will be reflected in the city's homes, buildings, and parks, and that the spirit of harmony and beauty will everywhere prevail.

—ALMIRA JEWETT TAYLOR.

The Physical Education Department

THE same qualities are required for a good member of a team as for a good citizen. Sacrifice, enthusiasm, sense of fair play, self-restraint, and sportsmanship are essential characteristics in the success of each squad, whether it be football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, tennis, or golf. These characteristics will further and protect the ideals which are now so eminent and conspicuous in our school and civic development.

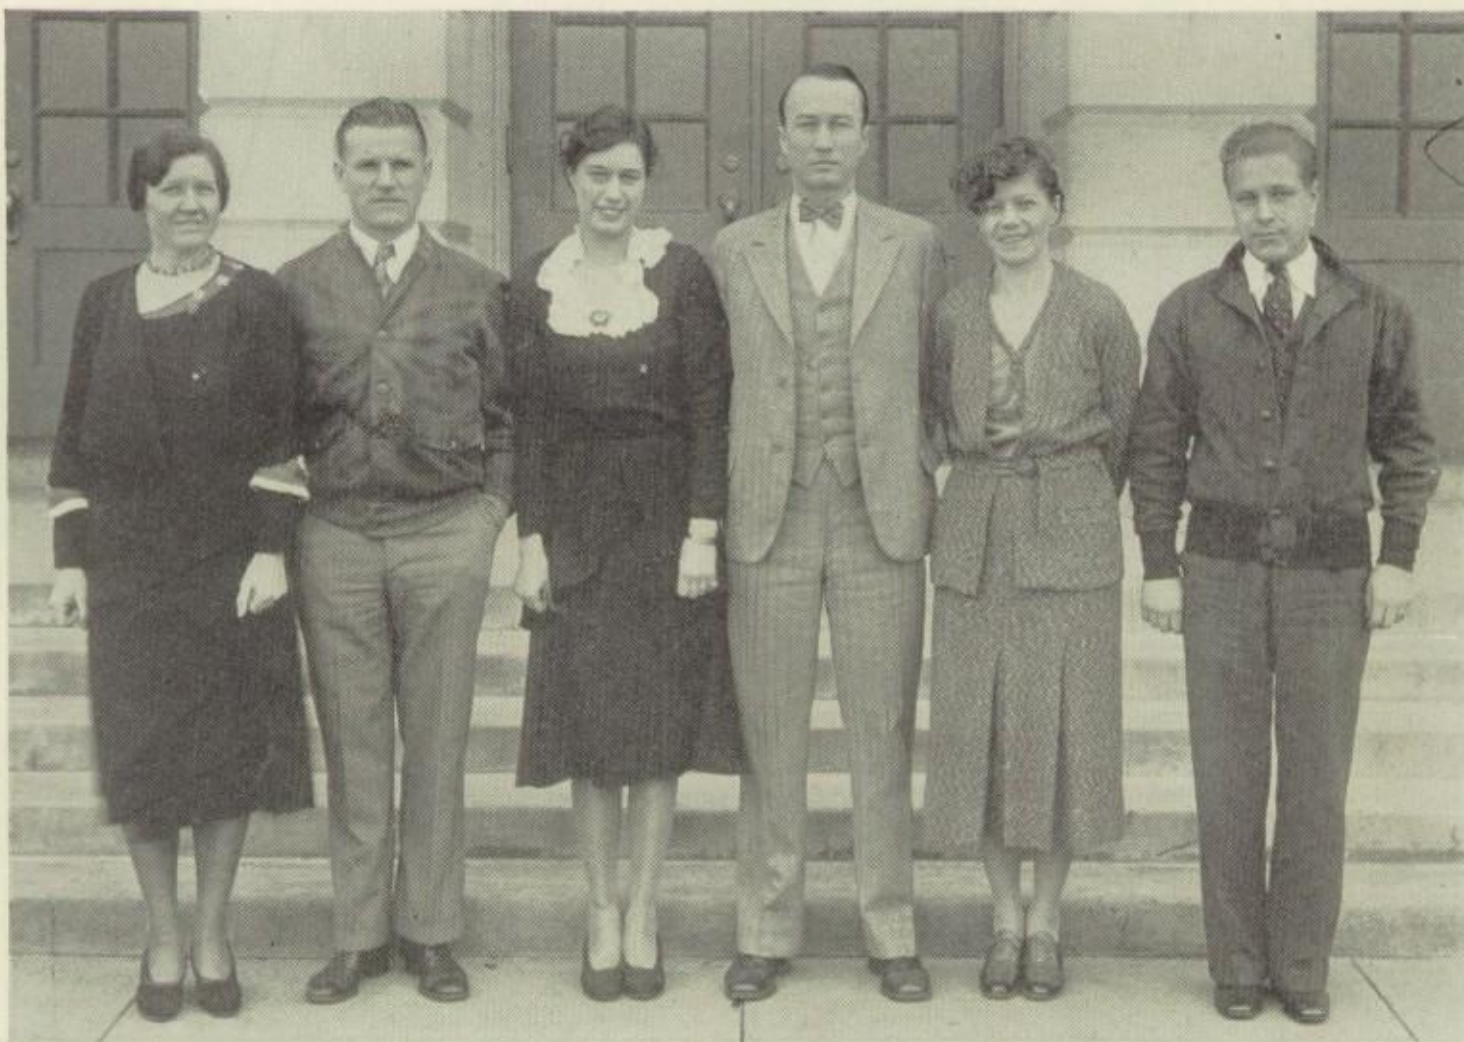

—A. D. MCCARTNEY.

Physical Education

PHYSICAL EDUCATION and health for the modern girl is a glorious opportunity to educate for leadership and citizenship. The ability to see beyond the girl the future mother and citizen; to see the mass as well as the individual; to stir the imagination of the girl is the goal for which we daily strive. The modern miss is the outcome of modern life in all its complexity. She is frank, courageous, questioning, and is not afraid of responsibility. Knowing this, we, as leaders of these girls, must feel morale, character development, play spirit, and improvement paramount in their development.

In Memoriam

A call rang out across the night
To summon home a soul,
And on the following morn in heaven
A new voice answered roll.

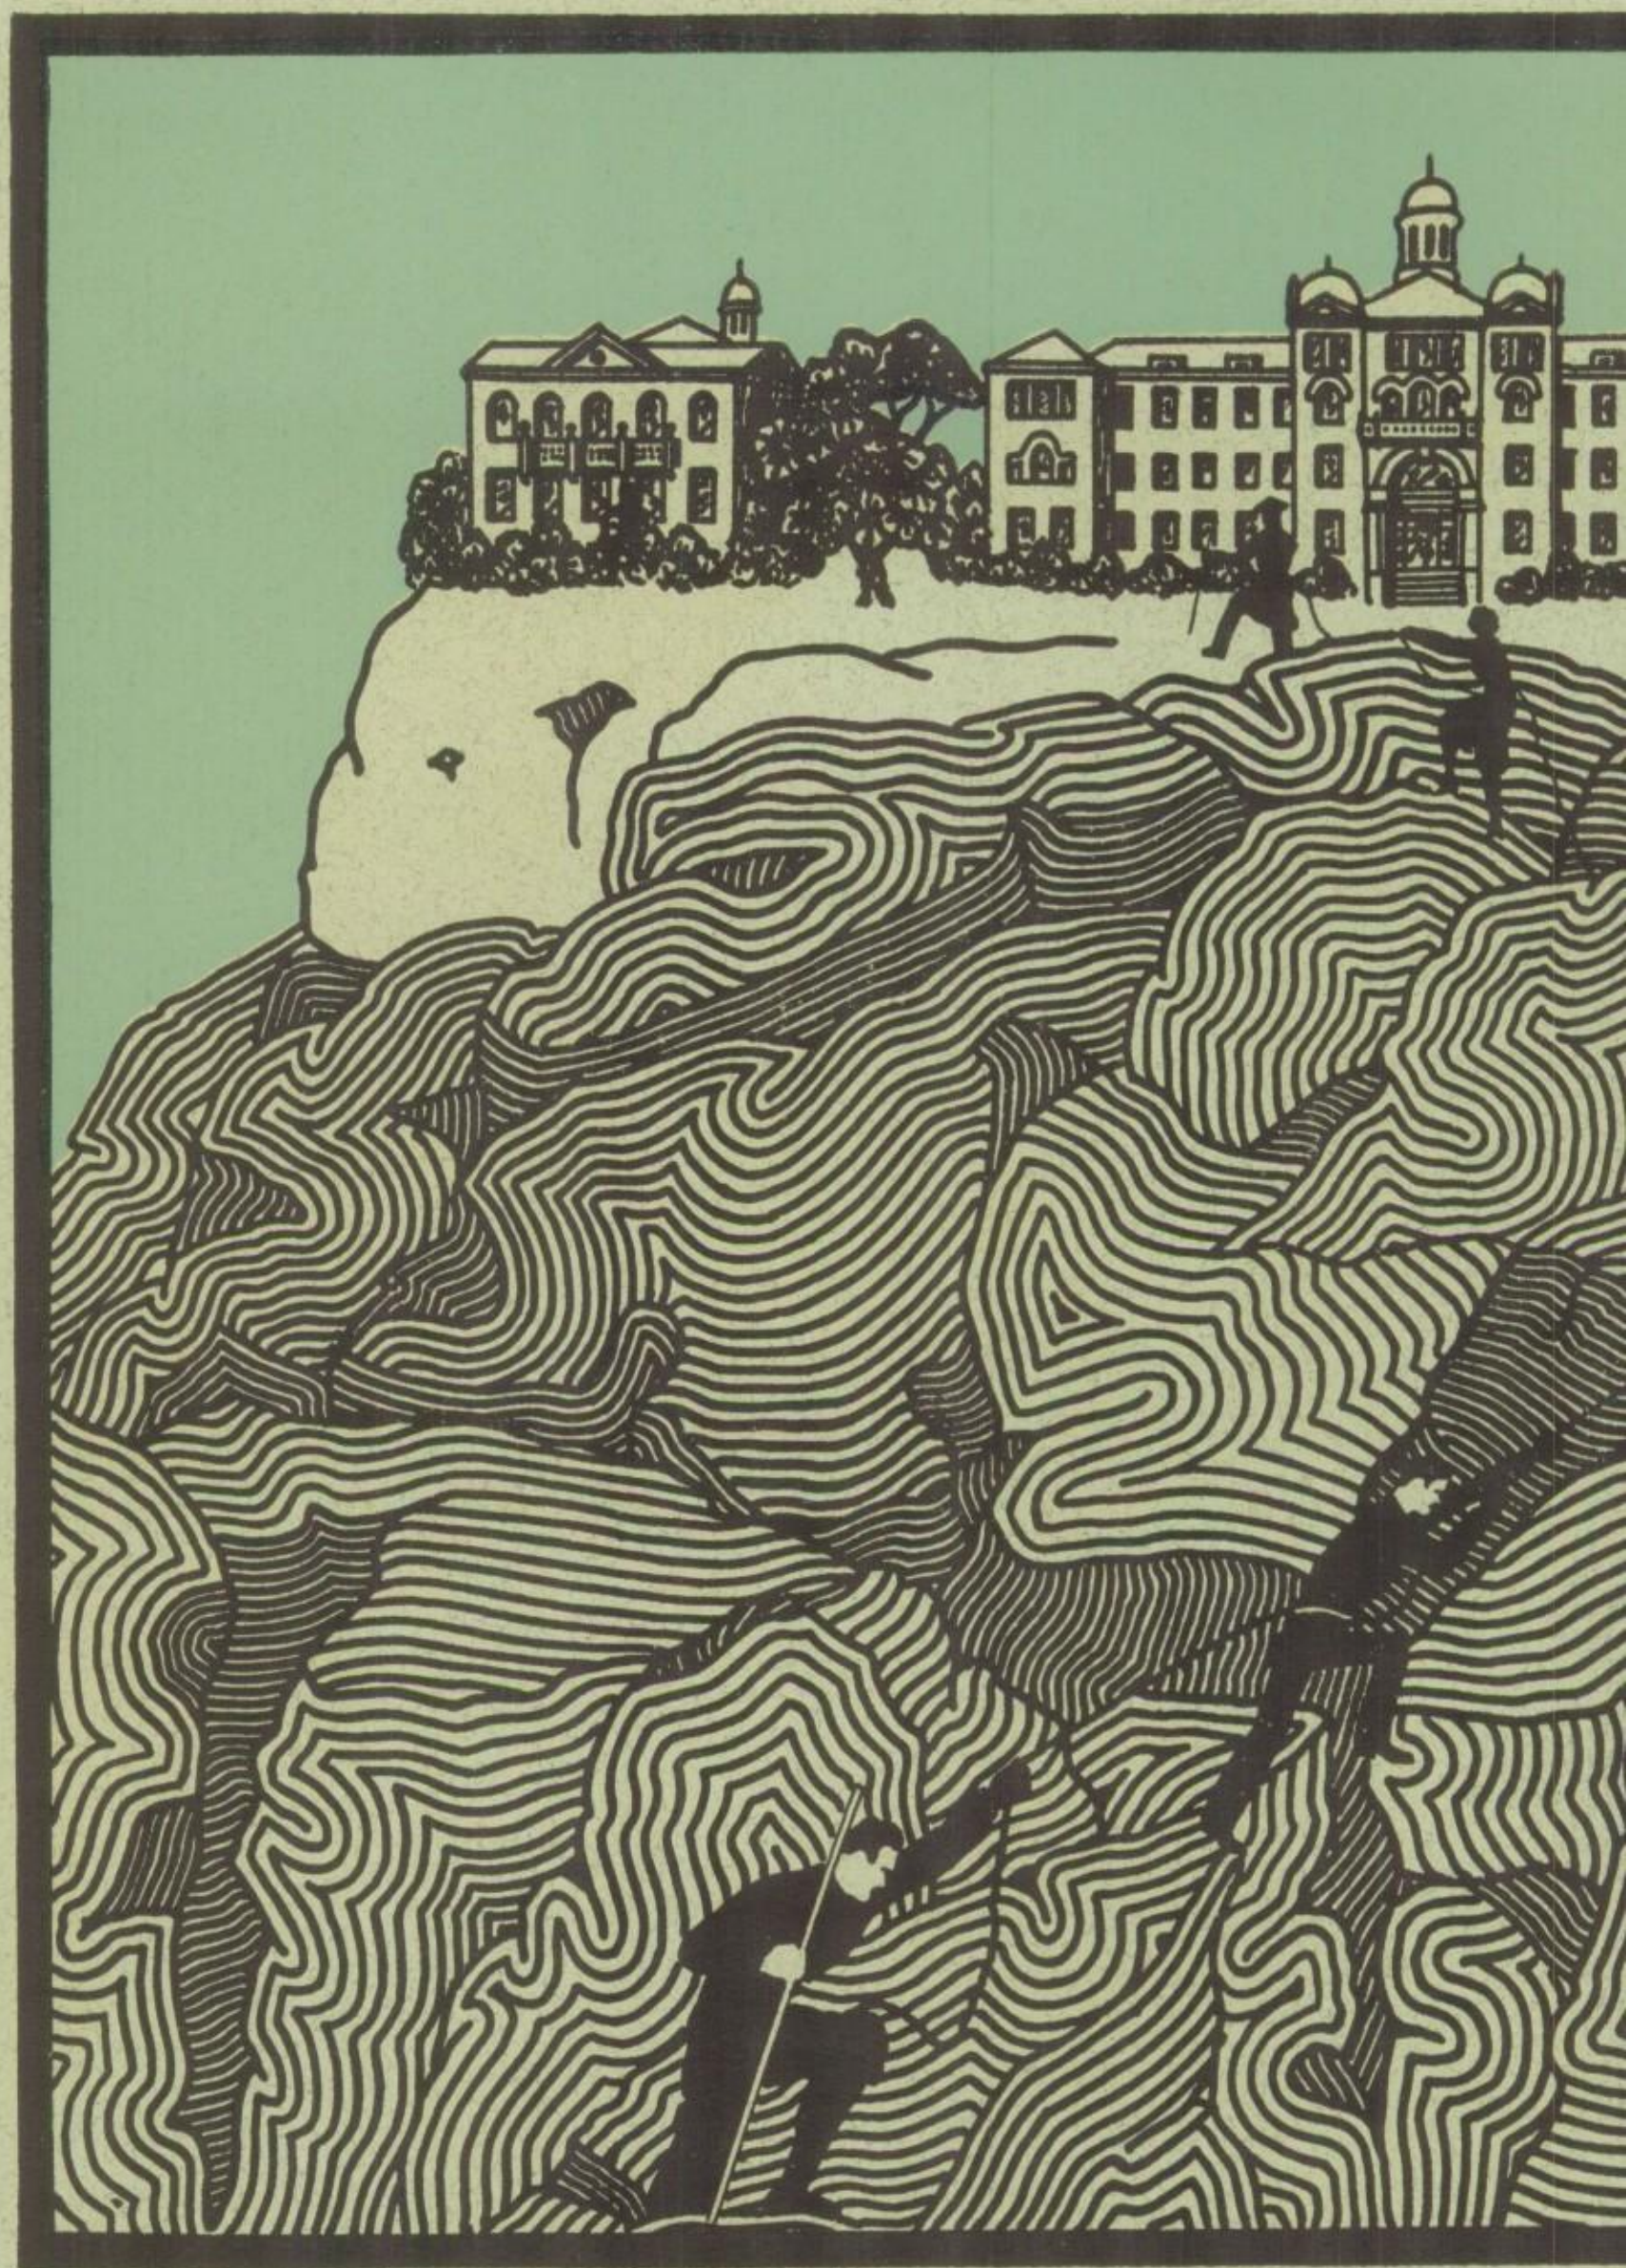

Too soon there came a second call
Which summoned her to rest,
To leave her place at Western Hills
And linger with the blest.

Oh School, be proud you were the last
To know their joy and care!
Rejoice in that 'twas you to whom
They gave of their love a share!

Their dreams, their work, their very thoughts,
Took shape within your walls.
Their spirits still will glide, noiseless,
With interest through your halls.

Though still their memory lingers
Like a fragrant mist at dawn,
They still inspire us onward;
We cannot feel they're gone.

—VERNA GRUELLE, '31.

RALPH KESSLER

University of Cincinnati

IT IS a frequent boast of citizens of the Queen City that Cincinnati affords to all of its sons and daughters the best in education. The city's fame as an educational center is largely upheld by the University of Cincinnati, which is generally recognized as the largest and most progressive of the municipal universities in the United States.

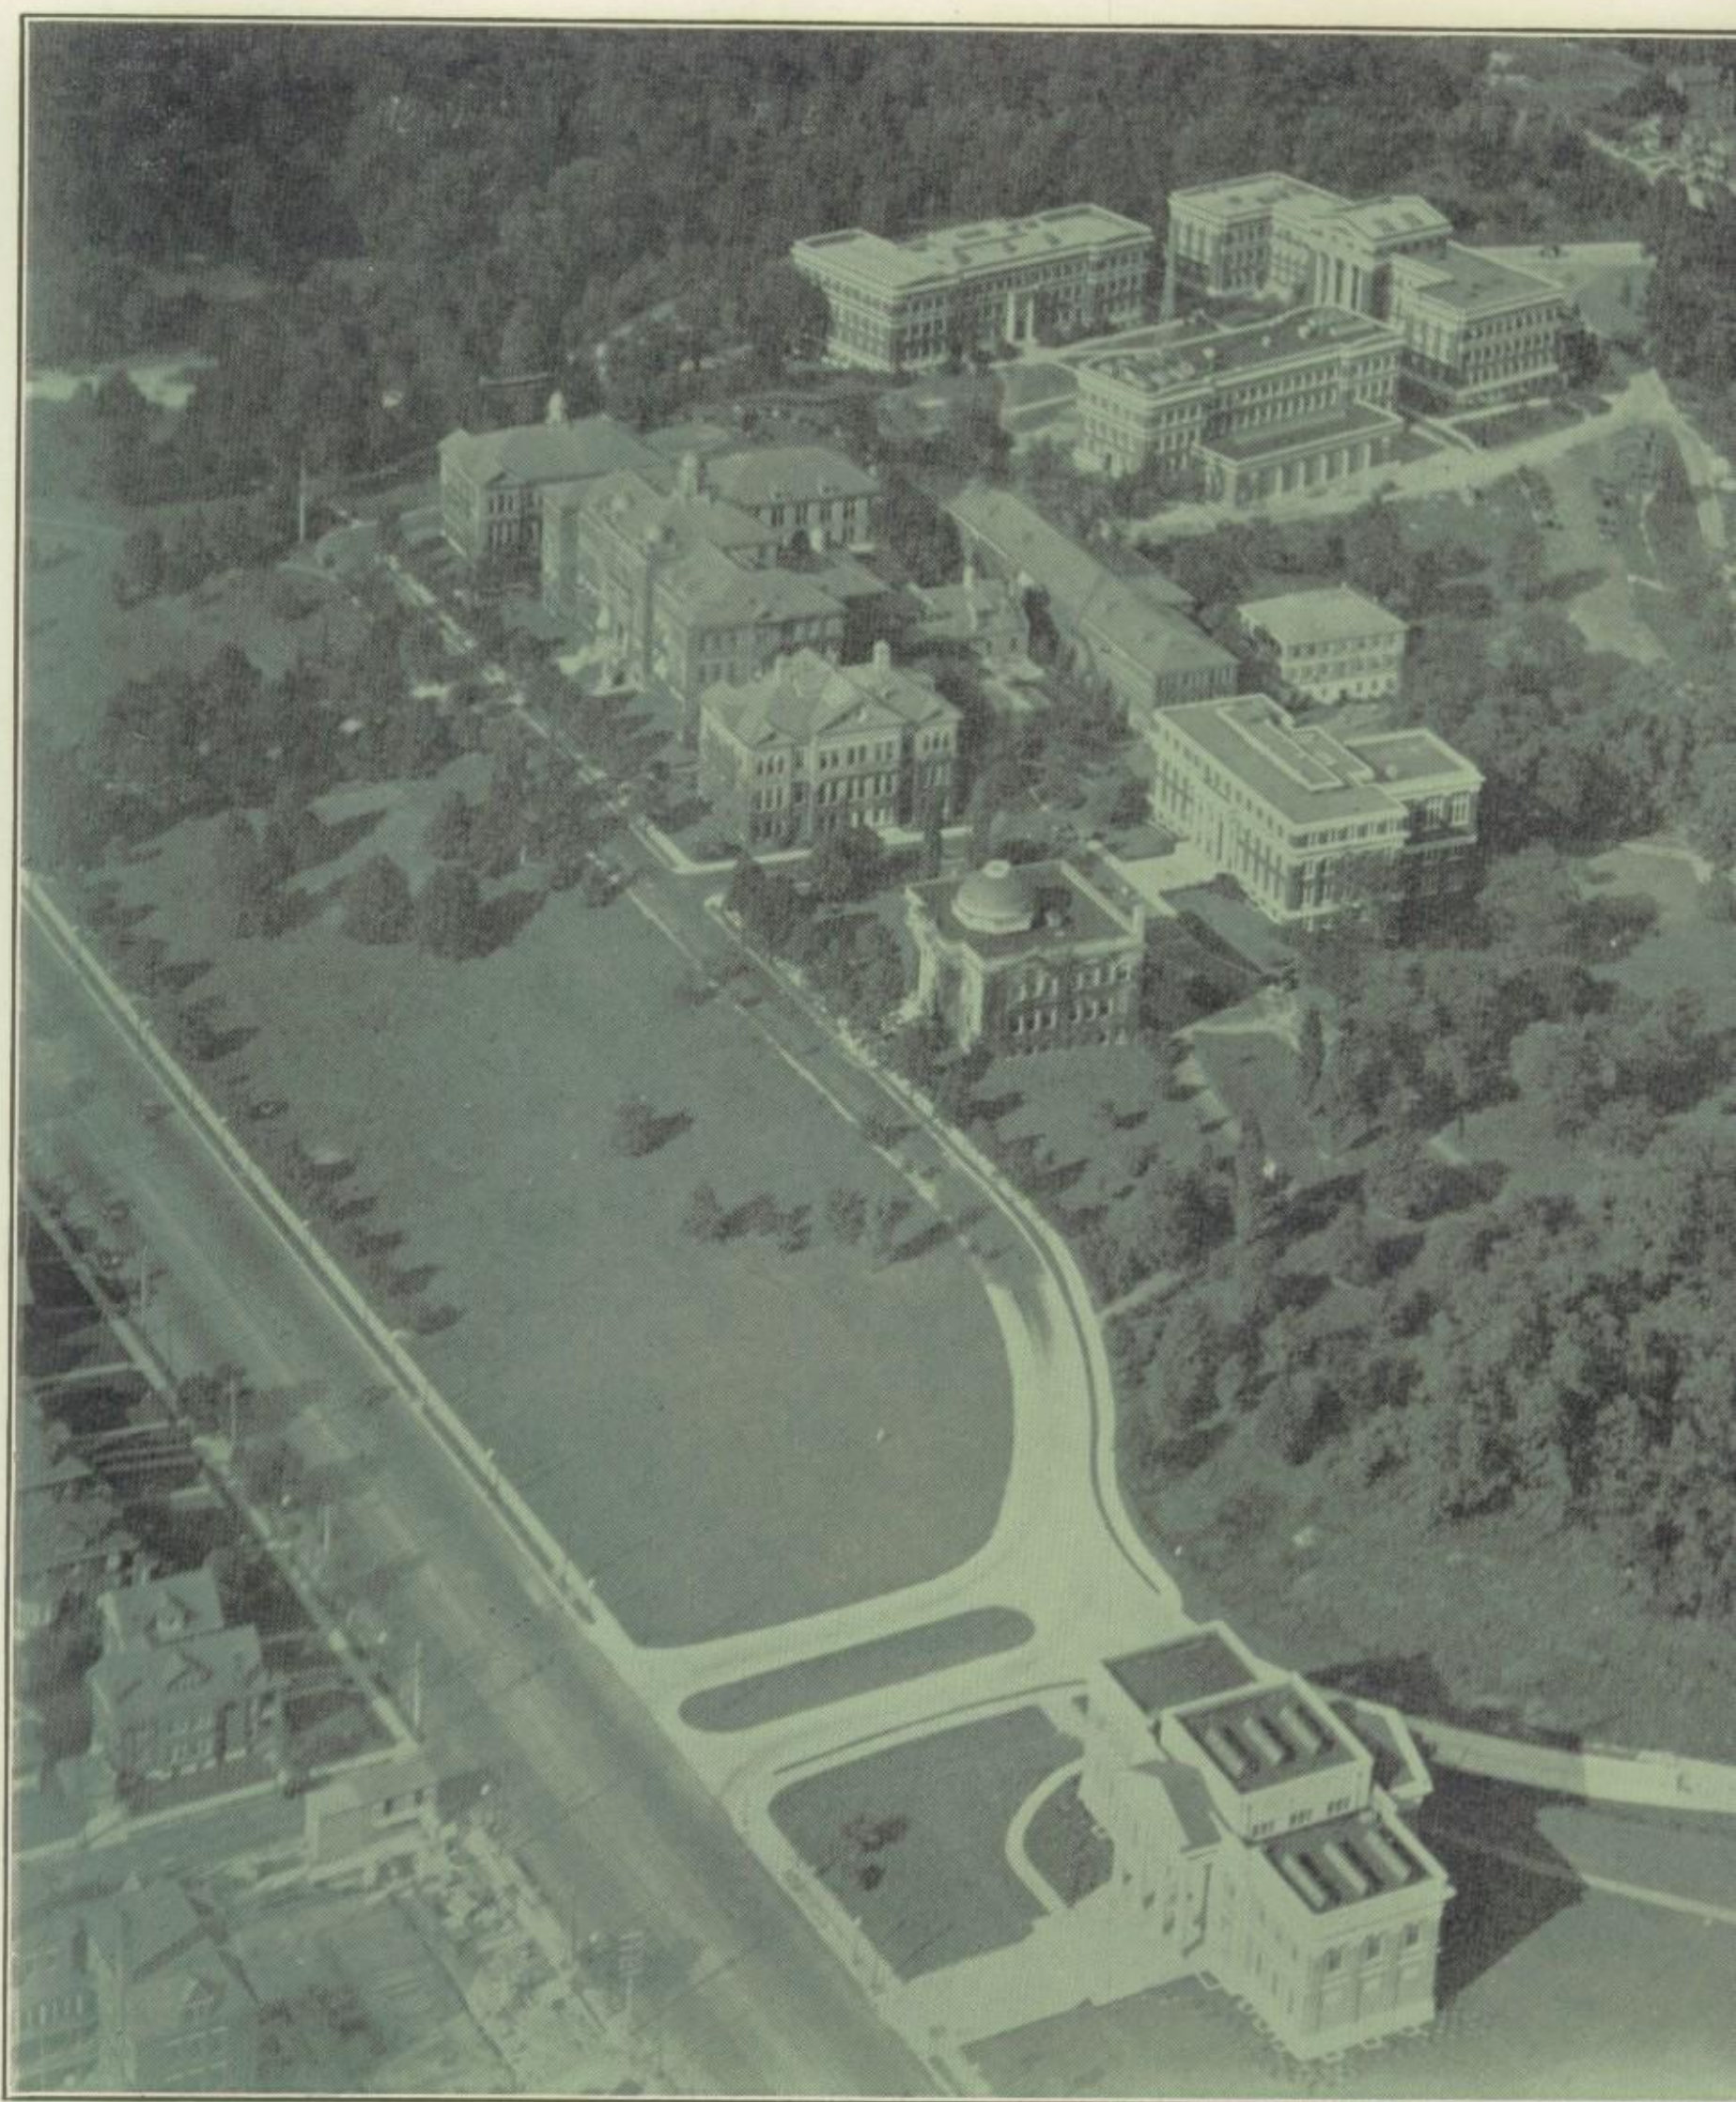

The University occupies the highest position in Cincinnati's complete educational system, through which a boy or girl can have every advantage of any branch of instruction. In few, if any other cities of the country, is it possible to find educational institutions from pre-kindergarten and school years to the most advanced type of graduate studies all located on one street, indeed within walking distance of each other. Such is the case in Cincinnati, where on Clifton Avenue are found the pre-school nursery conducted by the University, the Clifton public school, Hughes High School, and the nine colleges and schools of the University itself. Such facilities are unsurpassed.

When the University opens its doors in September, 1931, for its next fall session, it will enter its sixty-second year of service in educating the youth of Cincinnati to take their places in the world of commerce and culture. Thousands of young men and women find here the opportunity of securing at home at reasonable cost the type of college training which residents of other cities must seek, usually at great expense, beyond the limits of their own municipalities.

With Dr. Herman Schneider at its head as President, the University is made up of these units: McMicken College of Liberal Arts, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, College of Law, College of Engineering and Commerce, Teachers College, College of Medicine, School of Nursing and Health, School of Applied Arts, and School of Household Administration. More than 13,000 persons were registered for courses at the University last year, representing every state but two and a score of foreign countries.

Long enjoying a reputation for its high type of instruction, the University is now in the process of bringing its physical plant up to a par with its scholastic rating. Several buildings are now under construction as part of a $5,000,000 campus improvement program. Experts have pointed out that when this expansion program is completed, the university campus will be among the finest in the United States.

Although considerably younger than many of the other famous universities of the country, the University of Cincinnati carries among its long list of graduates some of the famous men of the nation, men who have made history. There are the late William Howard Taft, former President of the United States and Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court; the late Joseph G. (Uncle Joe) Cannon of Congressional fame, and Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President, to mention only three of many.

Senior Class History

*"Sail forth into the sea, O ship!
Through wind and wave, right onward steer!
The moistened eye, the trembling lip,
Are not the signs of doubt or fear."*

Now has come the momentous day when the senior class "sails forth into the sea," to take its place as citizens of the world. Certainly we may have "the moistened eye, the trembling lip," but only because we are leaving behind us forever, our dear old Western Hills. Yet we have many memories upon which to ponder which will keep the spirit of our school in our hearts and minds forever.

Our first big project as Seniors was the editing of the Maroon, which we undertook with a will. The Senior girls then stepped forward, establishing a new custom at Western Hills—that of having Little Sisters in the Freshman girls. We found that this had a great deal to do with the fostering of the spirit of fellowship and companionship between the older and younger girls. Then we gave our annual reception for the Junior class at Christmas, and certainly we showed the "mere Juniors" how things are done!

Again the girls took the lead, as we gave our annual spring Mother and Daughter tea. But probably our most coveted project was the editing of our Year Book, as among its printed pages are hidden bits of the hearts and very lives of those who published it. Then the end of our year was in sight. Our last big functions were our Class Day and Graduation, which, without further elaboration, will never be forgotten.

Now, with a backward glance at all we are leaving behind us, we step forth into the world, fully prepared because of our training at Western Hills to take the places which are our heritage, confident that we will make a record as citizens which may bring only honor upon our school.

Spirit of '32

Lo! Risen from the realms of Freshmen and Sophomores, a new band of travelers wend their way along the highway of education. This band is the Class of '32.

Proud of its distinction of being the first class to complete four years at Western Hills, '32 has earnestly endeavored to become worthy of that honor. Behind the Juniors of '31, imprinted in the dust of the road they travel, lie records of work well done, records of achievement in literature and dramatics, prowess in athletics, success in musical productions, accomplishments in the realm of art, and, finally, advancement in good citizenship.

Although few realize the fact, helpful, active citizenship is the ultimate goal toward which the Class of '32 is slowly and wearily plodding its way. Education creates a desire to be helpful, to be active in the community, to abide by the law, and to stand for the right. The fulfillment of this desire constitutes good citizenship. Yes, education and citizenship go hand in hand along life's way.

Now, in '31, the Class of '32 has passed three crossroads each offering an opportunity to leave the main road and the march toward the promised goal. The majority, however, have determined to carry on and now approach the last crossroad in their school career. Entering into their Senior year, members of '32 look back up their Junior year with fond memories and the confidence that they have left behind a worthy record, which is in itself a challenge to the Juniors of '32.

Sophomore Biography '30-'31

AHOY THERE, mates! Here we come just off the good ship "Sophomore," one of the main cogs in the fleet which consists of the "Senior," "Junior," "Sophomore," and "Freshman," and two auxiliary ships, "Seven" and "Eight." The good ship "Sophomore" set out from the port of Western Hills with a will to conquer. Both girls and boys excelled in scholarship and in athletics. We are now going to storm in succession the ships "Junior" and "Senior" and then finally the great ship, "Citizenship." As Juniors, let us assure the class of '32 that their beloved "Western Breeze" will be taken over into capable hands. Are we not as Sophomores faithfully performing our duties in the establishment of praiseworthy traditions?

As the Seniors of '33 we shall try to set before all coming classes standards of sportsmanship, scholarship, and citizenship which will be recognized by all as excellent ideals for which to strive.

Ninth Grade History

WHEN we entered Western Hills High School as seventh graders, we felt very insignificant, for not only were we lost in the mazes of the huge building, but we could hear the older pupils remarking, "Just look at the little seventh graders. Aren't they cute?" In the eighth grade we no longer felt like strangers. Now and then, we even found ourselves indulging in a feeling of amusement at the plight of the new seventh graders—but we were still properly awed by the upper classmen who were much older and more dignified than we. But now that we have advanced one more step along the path of education, we feel quite experienced. Gone are the days of childhood. We have assumed our place in the life of the school and have accepted the responsibilities that that life entails. Ahead of us lies a signal honor—that of being the first graduating class to have completed a full six year course at this school.

Eighth Grade History

YES, we're only eighth graders, rookies as the Seniors have named us. We don't understand why we should be called this, for we try very hard to act like the Seniors. We subscribe for the Annual, the Maroon, and the Breeze, and even stay around the girls, just like the Seniors. We also attend all the games, and take active interest in all the other school activities. The seventh and eighth grade swimming team is the only junior team that competes with teams outside of our own Western Hills High School.

Our regular school subjects occupy much of our time, and our interest in these subjects is shown by the number we have on the honor roll. We believe that the facts we have learned in the eighth grade will prove invaluable to us as we grow older. We, the rookies, are laying a good foundation for the Seniors of a few years from now. —HAROLD EPPLER

Seventh Grade History

WHAT do you see so funny about us? Don't laugh. We may be in the cradle but we're growing and will be big men and women some day. In September when we arrived here as a bunch of immigrants, we felt like, "Little ducks in a big puddle." At first everything seemed strange to us. We were lost in a great big college-like building.

However, as the year went by we became adjusted, and interested ourselves in school activities, the boys mostly in athletics, while many of the girls were in the "World Fantasy" and auditorium sessions.

After we were initiated into the mid-year exams, or as the Western Breeze termed it, "the valley of the shadow of death," we felt much older indeed, and we anticipate that we'll soon be feeling like, "Big ducks, in a little puddle."

—ROBERT SCULLY

Music Hall—Scene of the Famous May Festival

Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra

IN 1895, the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra was established through the enterprise of a group of civic minded and forward looking women, whose ideal it was to make available to the people of their home city the finest of music. How well they succeeded is attested by the preeminent position now held by the Cincinnati Orchestra. Few orchestras are its equal in artistic capacity.

Thanks to the public-spirited generosity of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft, and other citizens, inspired by them the Cincinnati Institute of Fine Arts was founded and endowed in 1929, with the maintaining of the Orchestra as one of its primary objects. Thus a continuing opportunity to hear the finest music at low cost is assured to Cincinnatians, for no orchestra of first artistic rank can earn its cost of operation.

The Orchestra is composed of ninety splendid instrumentalists, an unusually large number of whom are real virtuosos. Frank van der Stucken was the first regular conductor, followed by Leopold Stokowski, Ernst Kunwald, Eugene Ysaye and Fritz Reiner. Eugene Goossens, noted English composer and conductor, becomes the director of the Cincinnati Orchestra in the Autumn of 1931.

The Cincinnati May Festival

A FEATURE of the celebrated Cincinnati May Festivals is the children's chorus, composed of children in the public schools. Their singing has become famous throughout the musical world for its beauty of tone, accuracy, and infinite charm. When Pierne's musical legend, "The Children's Crusade," was given for the first time in this city eight hundred children sang with the May Festival adult chorus. It was a memorable event and H. E. Krehbiel, the well known New York music critic, wrote for the New York Tribune on that occasion, that their singing was "wonderful, thrice wonderful, and won from many the tribute of happy tears."

It was when the late Frank van der Stucken became conductor of the Cincinnati May Festival that the children were made an integral part of the Festival programs. He knew what could be done with children's choruses, for he had studied them in Belgium, where mass singing of children was early developed. Under his tutelage Alfred Hartzell developed the Cincinnati children into the remarkable body of young choristers they have proven to be from Festival to Festival. Once again at the coming May Festival there will be eight hundred children from the public schools singing in "The Children's Crusade."

Choral Club

AGAIN the Choral Club has had a brilliant year of activity and success! Plans were made from the opening of school for the opera "Bohemian Girl" and by the end of March the members, with the invaluable aid of their sponsor, Mr. McFee, were prepared with one of the outstanding productions of the year, an afternoon and two evenings of superb song and drama! The proceeds were designated to the fund for lunch room murals.

In addition, the Club broadcasted several of the opera choruses and the principals sang the outstanding solos on the school hour of station WSAI.

At Christmas time the club again came forth with many of the other high schools to sing carols at Music Hall for the benefit of the unemployed.

This year the club chose extremely decorative pins to signify membership to one of the foremost organizations of the school.

Junior Choral Club

THIS CLUB is one of the fine organizations which has held a prominent place in the extra-curricular activities of the school for the past three years. The outstanding accomplishment of the club this year was its presentation of the operetta, "The Gypsy Rover."

The club members are learning one of the important lessons that insure future good citizenship—that of worthy use of leisure time. They find that music and its accompanying activities furnish one of the finest outlets for the emotions and expressions of the soul and at the same time teach them to appreciate and enjoy good music. The club has a membership of one hundred. The officers are:

Junior Orchestra

THE JUNIOR ORCHESTRA has been organized for the purpose of teaching students the study of musical instruments until they are proficient enough in their playing, to enter the Senior organization of the school.

Through weekly rehearsals the orchestra has been able to play at all of the auditorium sessions of the year and, with the Junior Band, to render successfully a special program in April.

Although the music used at the beginning of the year was comparatively simple, it was soon supplemented by others, more difficult, presenting new and interesting problems of orchestral interpretation.

The Junior Orchestra has completed its third successful year under the skillful directorship of Mr. Charles F. Stokes, and the members who are now leaving it to join the Senior Orchestra feel that it has done a great deal in preparing them for this promotion. —ROBERTA ENDEBROCK

Senior Orchestra

PROBABLY the most commendable of the music organizations of the schools is the Senior Orchestra. Consisting of the more advanced and selected musicians of the school, this organization aims to give, under the able leadership and sunny disposition of Mr. Charles F. Stokes, all the valuable experience of playing and interpreting the higher grade of music.

During the past season, the orchestra furnished music on the occasion of the annual Parents' Night, and did remarkable work in connection with the performance of the "World Fantasy." This organization was very active in the performance of "Seventeen," and heralded great comment on the eve of the Commencement Exercises. But the greatest and largest task assumed by the orchestra was the accompanying of the "Bohemian Girl." All three performances were handled with the skill and ability of professionals and accordingly, the orchestra received its just due of compliments.

The Western Hills Band

DOWN the field they come in W. formation. Follow them—the strutting drum major—the basses and trombones—trumpets—reeds and drums—their snappy uniforms blazing the name of Western Hills High School as they break into the Victory Song.

At the majority of the games, whether the very valves of the instruments have frozen, as at the Elder game, or whether the members have dropped from heat, the band has appeared to play.

In addition to these athletic games, this organization has appeared publicly in street parades, Boys' Hobby Fair, and, of course, at all of the auditorium sessions.

Consisting of pupils from the seventh to twelfth grades, the band has risen from a group of untrained young musicians to one of the best trained organizations of its kind in the city—remarkable progress for only three years of existence.

Junior Band

AFTER having a successful past year, the junior band has again resumed activities under the able leadership of Mr. Stokes. The turnout at the beginning of the year was very encouraging and at the present time our band consists of about fifty members.

The purpose of this organization is to prepare those with musical ability for the senior band. Each year a number of senior band members are lost through graduation and these will be replaced by junior band members.

The junior orchestra and junior band both are now preparing for their annual program to be given for the junior auditorium session, April 15. The junior band's part of the program will include the following: several marches, a group of old hymns, "A Little Waltz," "Gavotte-Prince and Princess," "A Bagatelle," "The Barcarolle," and "Gwendolyn Mazurka."

Elsinore Gate

THE ELSINORE GATE, one of the majestic entrances to Eden Park, is rich in traditions associated with the drama. Saxo Grammaticus, author of "Gesta Danorum" from which Shakespeare drew his plot for his play "Hamlet" was born in Elsinore, Denmark; and Cincinnati's Elsinore gate is said to be modeled after his castle there. When the Stratford players were in Cincinnati they journeyed out to Eden Park especially to have pictures made under this famous gate.

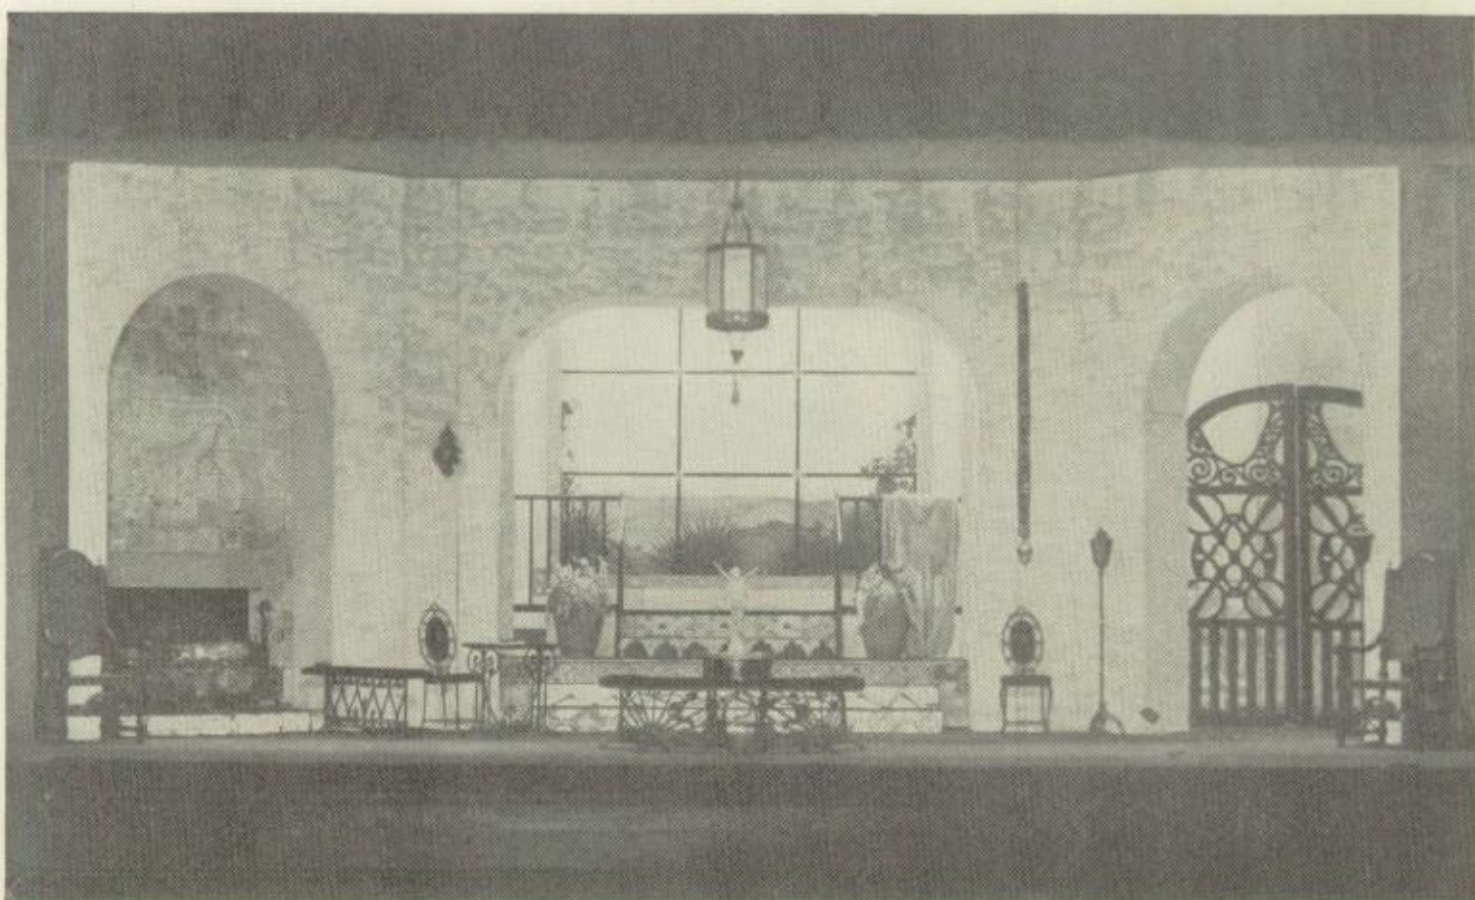

The Cincinnati Stuart Walker Company

CINCINNATI'S distinction in the line of drama comes largely through the Stuart Walker Company. Mr. Walker first brought his company to Cincinnati in 1916, after the great success of his Portmanteau Theatre in New York City. As a visiting organization he played six engagements here, presenting twenty plays of which eighteen had never been seen here before. In 1922 he returned here with his company and established it as a resident repertory company, but only after it had been acclaimed as one of the leading companies of the country elsewhere, including New York. Beginning with 1922, the company has played seven summers and four winters, a total of 262 weeks, 2,350 performances, 221 plays, 119 new to Cincinnati but played elsewhere, seventeen premieres, eighty-four played before by other companies, seventy-five rarely seen outside New York and London, thirty-four repeated.

During this period of residency, the company has used several hundred actors, 166 have played important parts in New York City and London productions, thirty-six have had important parts in talking pictures, seventy-nine have played in actual leads in New York and London, fourteen have been starred or featured in New York and London, eight have played ingenue and juvenile leads; sixteen have played leading character roles.

This record has never been equalled in the English-speaking theatre by any one company, no matter where it has played or what its resources have been. All of the excellent actors were not wholly trained in this organization, but most of them were given opportunities to improve and perfect their work. The Theatre Guild has used Tom Powers, George Gaul, McKay Morris, Earle Larimore, Alexander Kirkland, Elliot Cabot, John Griggs (an apprentice), Donald Macdonald as leading men, and Mary Ellis, Margalo Gilmore, Blanche Yorka as leading women.

This season closes with plans for opening in October, 1931, in full swing. It is hoped that Cincinnatians will continue to see the importance and value of a resident company like The Stuart Walker Company. The future of the theatre lies that way, and Cincinnati has a great start toward becoming one of the theatrical centres of the English-speaking world. J. P. Morgan once said that it took deep water for the launching of big ships. Here is a big ship: Cincinnati is deep water. Will Cincinnati insist upon individuality in her theatre, or is she willing to become one among many cities supplied and controlled by outside interests?

A scene from "Alimony for Albert," by Gladys Unger, given its world premiere by Stuart Walker.

Senior Dramatic Club

THE THIRD YEAR of the Senior Dramatic Club has ended—as everything does—that is, it ended! The first semester was spent on the production of a number of one-act plays including “Minuet,” “Who Kissed Barbara?” “Pierrot’s Mother,” “Six American Beauties,” “All on Account of an Actor,” and “The Man in the Boulder Hat,” two of which, “Pierrot’s Mother,” and “The Man in the Boulder Hat,” scored successes in auditorium sessions.

The big production of the year was Booth Tarkington’s well known play of youth, and love, and summer time, “Seventeen.” This play was successful both as a dramatic project and financially, for the proceeds of this play made possible the generous yearly contribution of the Seniors to the school.

The officers of this club are: President, Charles Kopp; Vice President, Esther Husman; Secretary, Anna Modiano; Treasurer, William Okrent.

We are proud of the success of this club and feel that the success of the past year is due to the spirit of friendliness and cooperation of club members and Sponsor, Mrs. Watson.

The Thespian Dramatic Club

THE THESPIAN DRAMATIC CLUB, sponsored by Miss Slutz, has enjoyed its second year of successful work. The officers of the club are as follows: President, Alvin Speiss; Vice President, Mildred Tressler; Treasurer, Beatrice Pfister; Secretary, Eleanor Hummel.

The efforts of the club have been concentrated on two plays. They are "His First Dress Suit" by K. Nickolson and "Words and Music" also by K. Nickolson. These two plays were presented to the school during an auditorium session in May. The plays met with great approval.

The two social events of the year were parties which were held, one in February and one in June. Amusing sketches and plays were arranged for the entertainment of the members. Delicious refreshments also were served. Looking backward over a successful and happy year we can think of nothing better than to wish our successors equal pleasure and profit.

Junior Dramatic Club

THIS YEAR the Junior High Dramatic Club is composed of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students. We meet every Thursday during the sixth period in room 107. The officers for the year are: President, Morris Weiner; Vice President, Marion Leisler; Secretary, Saul Shuller, and Treasurer, Mary Belle Bradford.

A large amount of time has been spent in the club discussing various plays and stories and a play entitled the "Dyspeptic Ogre" has been selected and prepared for presentation. A new and unique idea was introduced to Western Hills by Miss Wills, our able sponsor, in the production of two shadow plays. Our aim is to promote good citizenship and further the presentation of worthwhile plays. We have endeavored to learn the principles of dramatics and present plays which are both understandable and humorous.

Junior Dramatic Club

THE JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB of which Miss Kiel is the supervisor meets in room 201. This club was organized in September, 1930, with a membership of forty students. The officers of the club are the following: President, Marie Noyes; Vice President, Paul Stone; Secretary, Mary Nedelman; Treasurer, Jean Huidt.

The work of this club proves a good training basis for students who may in the future become lecturers, officers of organizations, public speakers, or possibly take up the stage as a profession.

One of the outstanding events of this club's activities this year was the presentation of the one-act play, "The Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil."

The club voted for and bought club pins, plain gold, diamond shaped, with the school colors, maroon and cream, and the club initials on them. The club members are enthusiastic workers and in the monthly club programs show splendid promise of being good speakers in the future.

Mrs. Seat's Junior Dramatic Club

THIS JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB was sponsored by Mrs. Seat during 1930-1931. Our first president was Harry Hausman. When he resigned Dorothy Moore took his place. Wanda Edwards was the first secretary, but later Howard Abel was elected to take her place. The club was divided into groups and each week one of the groups had to have something to entertain the club, and show how to dramatize it. The groups gave pieces, jokes, stories, and short plays.

Later in the year we gave a play in the auditorium. It was an old Japanese Folk Tale dramatized. The characters in this play were: Howard Abel, the Nobleman of Tokin; Dorothy Gillespie and Lorraine Holloway, two daughters of the Nobleman; John Boomguard and Lawrence Cook, the servants, Chang and Wang; Rose Hoffner and Joseph Gilhooley, two merchants; there were also street people.

Junior Theatre Guild

THE OFFICERS of the Junior Theater Guild are: President, Melvin Wengert; Secretary, Bill Henderson, and Treasurer, Ethel Mae Gambos.

Under the able instruction of Mr. McFee the Theatre Guild has become acquainted with the back stage, has learned to make scenery and quickly and easily shift the scenes. In order to get an idea of the back stage of other theaters, the Guild visited the prominent show houses, such as the Stuart Walker Company and Cox Theater, of the city. After these visits we understood a little better the workings of a stage and all in connection with it, so started to build up a stage of our own. We have constructed a number of scenes and as our club was small, each member had an opportunity to do different things on the scenery. Thus, with the cooperation of all the club members, The Theater Guild has accomplished much during the past school year.

The Cincinnati Art Museum

The Cincinnati Art Museum

CINCINNATI has been known during its entire history as a center of the arts. Since its founding in 1881, the Cincinnati Art Museum has been identified with the city's artistic development. From a modest beginning it has grown into a large institution. By the generosity of friends and patrons, new wings and exhibition halls have been added to the original unit of the building, while great collections of paintings and decorative arts material have been given to the Museum at different times.

Such collections are a great source of pleasure for the public. The appreciation of beauty is an experience that enriches one's personal life, while no truer means of understanding the past can be found than an acquaintance with art objects of the past, whether created for the expression of beauty as in painting, or for utility as in most examples of the minor arts.

For children and primitive peoples art in some form is a natural expression of personality. Appreciation of form, color and line is also quite spontaneous. Most of us, however, require some introduction to art in order to receive the most from it. For this reason modern Museums are no longer content with merely exhibiting the treasures they own. Today an important function is the explanation and interpretation of their collections to visitors by means of frequent lectures or gallery talks. The Cincinnati Art Museum endeavors to exercise this function. Every afternoon there are gallery talks on the exhibitions while on Sunday and from time to time on special occasions additional lectures are offered. Speakers are also supplied to groups and organizations. For children there are Saturday morning classes and on Sunday afternoon there are story hours on art subjects illustrated by beautiful slides.

In order further to develop the cultural influence of art for Cincinnatians, the Museum makes a practice of displaying temporary exhibitions, especially the work of contemporary painters and decorators. A knowledge and understanding of the contemporary movements in art helps greatly in leading a satisfying and harmonious life, since it is from such contemporary things that most of us choose our usual setting.

Rookwood's History

ROOKWOOD POTTERY was founded in 1880 by Mrs. Maria Longworth Storer. Upon her retirement in 1890 she transferred her interest to Mr. W. W. Taylor, who formed the present company, and remained its controlling influence until his death in 1913—and then by will placed his stock in the hands of trustees for the perpetuation of the policy which had given Rookwood its unusual character as an art industry. Under his direction as president the present buildings were erected in 1892 and extended in 1899 and 1904. They crown the summit of Mt. Adams, one of the city hills, and while remarkably picturesque in themselves, they command in every direction beautiful views of the river, the city and its suburbs.

The Pottery is managed on lines opposite to the prevailing factory system, as the effort is to attain a higher art rather than commercial output. Absolutely no printing patterns are used nor any duplicates made of signed decorated pieces. A spirit of freedom and liberality has prevailed in order to cultivate in every way individual artistic feeling among the workers employed.

The decorators comprise both men and women, and are drawn mainly from the Art Academy of Cincinnati. The decorations are placed upon the moist clay before any firing, the colors being mixed with clay and becoming part of the ware itself. The pieces, after decoration, are fired into biscuit and the various glazes are applied in subsequent firings. These methods, while necessary to produce the beautiful underglaze effects of Rookwood, are rarely used elsewhere, as they increase so largely the risks and expense of manufacture.

The clays in use for all purposes are entirely American and largely from the Ohio Valley. These native clays from the start inclined the color quality toward yellows, browns, and reds. As a command of material has strengthened, the beauty of the ware has steadily gained in a harmony of all the elements which compose it, until form, color, decoration and glaze combine to produce those things of beauty which elude all attempts to imitate and make Rookwood a complete novelty in the world's ceramics.

Pen and Ink Club

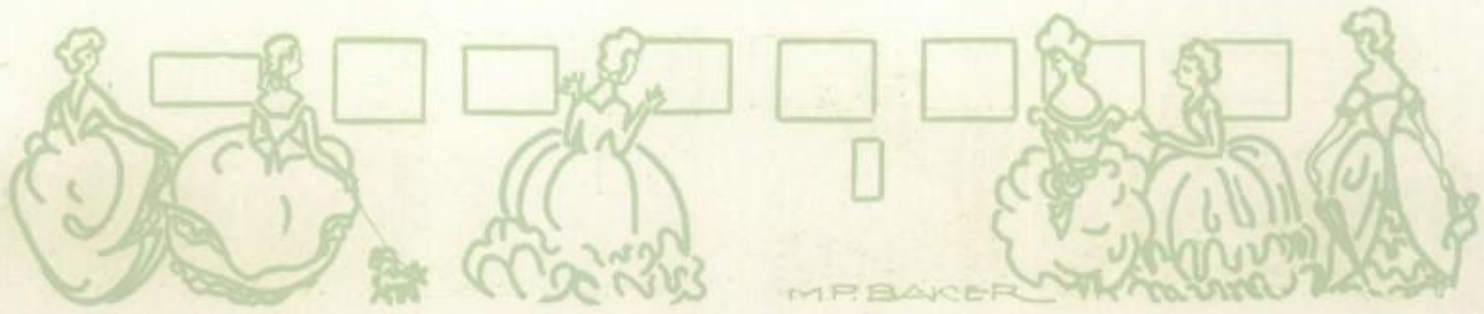

THE PURPOSE of the Pen and Ink Club, sponsored by Mrs. A. J. Taylor, is to illustrate the Maroon and the Year Book. The members spend much time in the practice of pen handling, and make a careful study of composition and the various methods of tone building. Discussions are held on the process of reproduction by means of the zinc cut, so that drawings may be correctly prepared for the engraver.

The two divisions of the club, the Junior and Senior, cooperate to make the school magazine and the annual attractive. Practically all the drawings in these two publications are by our club members. Contributors to the Maroon are: M. Held, R. Baker, V. Stienmann, M. P. Baker, G. Alderman, E. Groppenbecker, A. Sander, D. Shaw, F. Claxton, A. Dydynski, and R. Kessler. The cover design of the Year Book and the nine large drawings are by the following members: H. Daughters, M. P. Baker, R. Baker, V. Stienmann, E. Groppenbecker, R. Kessler, M. Held, G. Alderman, and A. Sander.

Senior Poster Club

IN THE BEGINNING, discussion groups were conducted by the chairman on various subjects pertaining to poster art and its development to the modern and present day status. These discussions proved very interesting to the members. At the same time the following problems were being worked out: posters on travel, by the boys; while the girls were working out gesso plaques. These were done in the following manner: the design was drawn and then traced to wood. Various levels were built up with the gesso paste. When this had dried, bronzes were applied over which the pupils painted in oil. To complete these plaques they were shellacked and given an antique finish.

All of the members feel that they have learned an appreciation of fine art that will be helpful to them in the future. Also we have shown our civic pride by contributing several posters for city projects.

The officers of the Senior Poster Club are: Edith Lauber, Chairman; Clifford Smith, Secretary.

First row: Unrick, Lauber, Steimbuck, Stoller, Tahl, McMann.

Junior Poster Club

THE AIM of the club is to teach the members appreciation of color, form, fine design, and technical skill. Several members of the club have done gesso work and found it very interesting.

Poster art is used in commercial art such as newspapers, magazines, and billboards. Such types of work are constantly before the individual in his every day life.

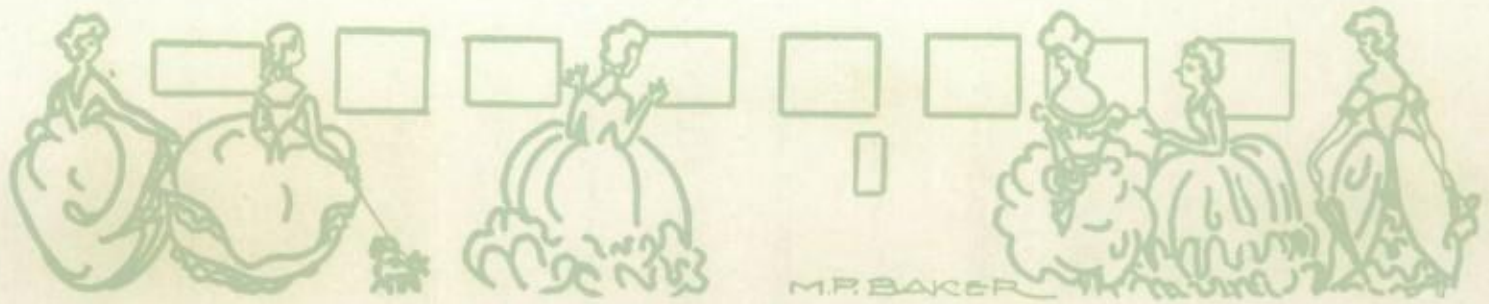

The various subjects used for posters were as follows: industry, safety, travel, health, and school subjects such as "The World Fantasy," "Flower and Garden Show" and "The Bohemian Girl." Several members have contributed cartoons to the Western Breeze.

Each member of the class feels that he has profited a great deal during the year and the things learned will be very helpful in the future. We have cooperated with school and city by contributing posters for various projects.

The officers of the poster club are: Chairman, Dorothy Schulze; Secretary, David Seyler.

Junior Crafters' Club

THE JUNIOR CRAFTERS' CLUB designs and creates many beautiful objects, and obtains a general knowledge of many types of craft work. They learn something of materials and processes used. They also consider appropriateness of materials and designs to objects. The difference in hand-made and machine-made objects is appreciated.

This knowledge should be of benefit to the Crafters throughout life. It should not only aid them in making wise selections, in purchasing objects, but should help them to understand and appreciate craft work at all times.

Some of the members, who have the ability and desire, may later specialize in some type of craft work and make it their life work.

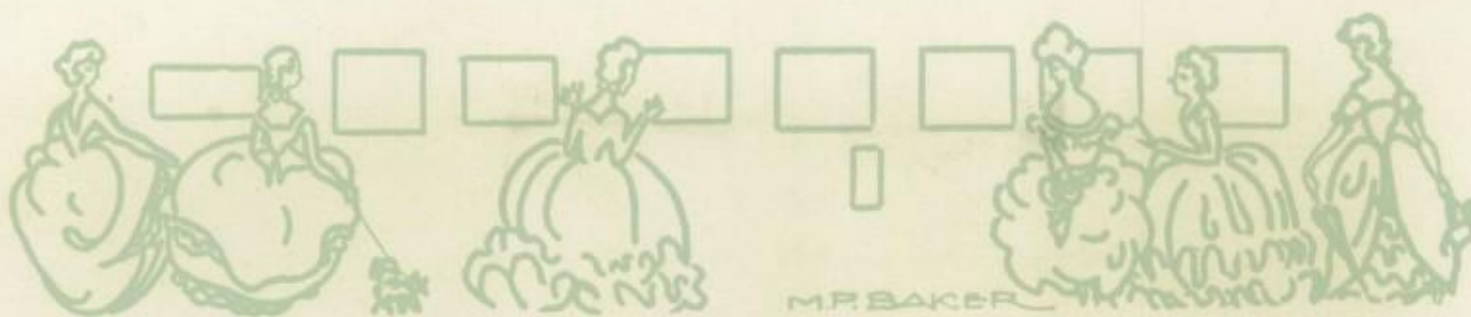

Finally, this knowledge should give an added interest and happiness in the lives of the Crafters and help to make them useful and cultured citizens in their community.

The officers of the club are: President, Ralph Borcharding; Vice President, Virginia Stegner; Secretary, Emma Reuter; Treasurer, Robert Thomas; Sponsor, Miss Blasch.

The Batik Club

THE BATIK CLUB made up of boys of tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades meets every Tuesday afternoon in Room 205 under the supervision of Miss Blasch. There are no officers and no dues, each boy purchasing his own material.

The members have studied the history and character of "batik"—an ancient Asiatic word. This is a method of painting with wax upon a fabric, after which the material is dyed and the wax removed. The boys have made original designs which were worked out in many colors, on velvet and silk wall panels, scarfs, handkerchiefs, etc.

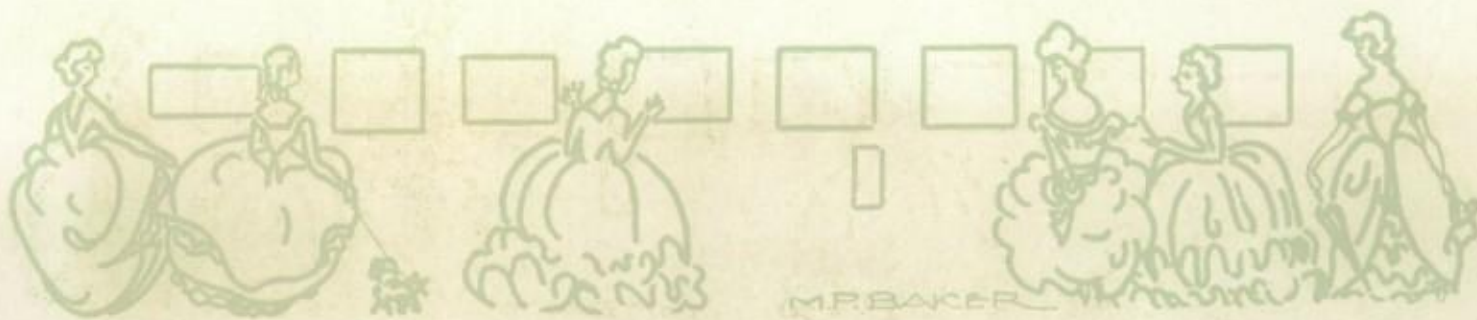

Besides developing skill in producing batik, this work also enables the members to appreciate fine batiks and to know why they are superior to many other textiles.

This interest in batik should develop citizens of more intelligence and culture, with a knowledge of fine art, who would be an asset to any community.

Leather Club

THE PURPOSE of this club is to learn the different kinds of leather and their uses, and the things that can be made from leather.

Our club has been very busy since its organization started. The students have been making little articles such as book marks, coin purses, book-ends, wrist watch bands, and other small articles. Original designs for these were created.

Mrs. Carmichel, our sponsor, has taught us how to tool, dye, and lace leather. It is very interesting to see and know how to make many useful articles from small pieces of leather. Some of the best specimens of our work have been displayed in the trophy case in the school hall in order that other students may know what we are accomplishing. The club officers are: President, Edwin Bauer; Vice President, Jean Stephanoff; Secretary, Johnny Weiss; Treasurer, Charles Meyer; Sergeant of arms, Joan Coles.

Football

THE WESTERN HILLS football team the past season, although not of championship rank, was greatly feared. Starting out with three letter men, Coaches McCartney and Thomas built up a speedy and well-balanced football machine that fought until the last whistle. The scores do not tell the tale. Every game was hard fought but it seemed victory did not smile upon us.

The first game of the season with Hartwell, which we won 18 to 6, put us in shape for our hard schedule. The next game, played at Carson Field with Norwood, which was the first night school football game in Cincinnati, will be listed as one of the most exciting football games played by a Western Hills team. Norwood led 6 to 0 until the last 35 seconds to play when a long forward pass was completed and was taken over the goal line, tying the score. The next move was a beautiful drop kick by our half-back, Van Horn, that won the game 7 to 6 for West High. The next game was a defeat at the hands of Covington "Bulldogs." This defeat made Coach McCartney realize that the team needed plenty of polishing before the Interscholastic season opened.

Western Hills opened the Interscholastic season with a bang by defeating the highly touted Woodward eleven by the count of 26 to 6. The next game Withrow planted one on our nose with a victory of 6 to 0. That game might have been forgotten if Hughes High hadn't stepped in and taken another heart-breaker from us by the score 6 to 2. Finished with our scholastic schedule much to our regret, we went through a week of intensive practice before meeting our greatest foe, Elder High. This game was played on Thanksgiving Day. The game was not only our last game but also tops our ill-fate. Through some mishaps, four Elder players blocked a punt back of our goal line, which proved to be the only scoring of the game.

Basketball

THIS YEAR'S basketball team was fairly successful. As we lost every veteran on last year's team, practice was started earlier in the season, so now we could develop before the regular season started.

Through graduation we lose several members of the first squad namely: F. Heister, Klvaner, Kopp, and Williams. Let us hope that Coach Thomas can develop a fast charging quintet with such promising material as Frey, Gilland, Reis, Rubing and Yeager.

Swimming Team

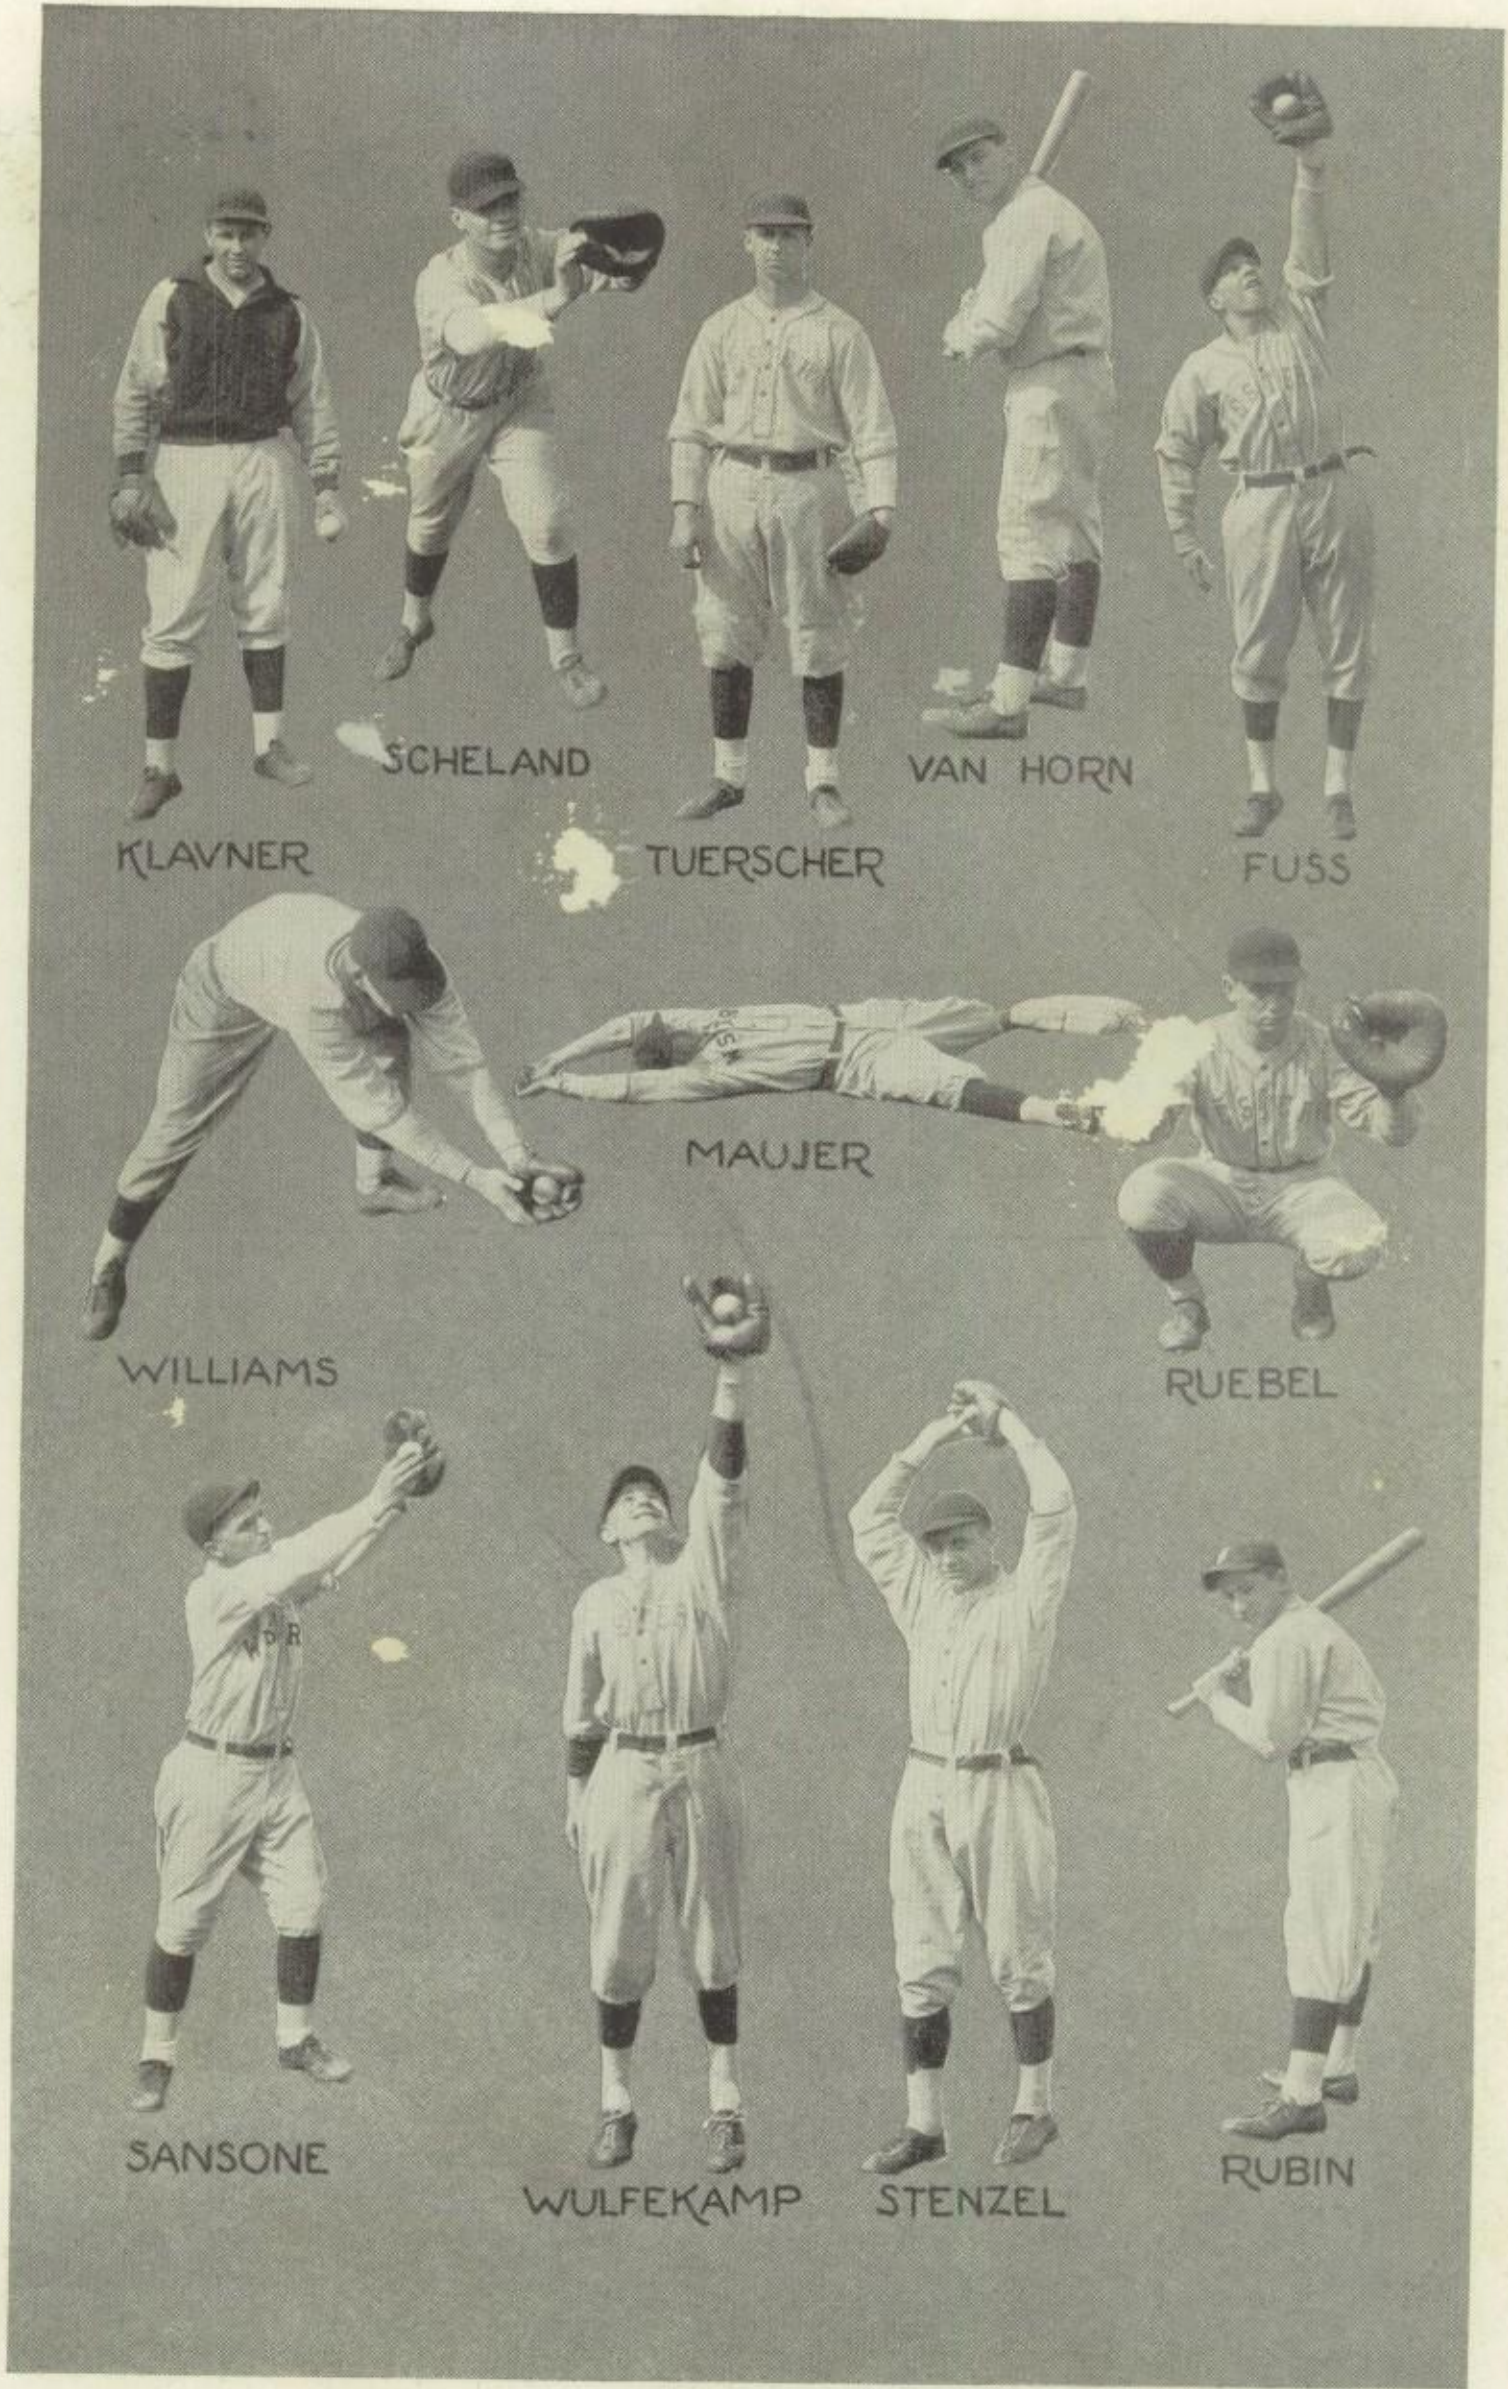

ALTHOUGH this year's team again fell short of a championship, it showed a decided improvement. Those boys who most consistently placed this year were Fisher, in the breast stroke, Edwards in the 100 yard free style, Panzer in the 200 yard free style, Bellem in the free style and Yeager in diving. In the Southern Ohio meet Fisher placed in the breaststroke, Gau in 40 yard free style, and Panzer in the backstroke.

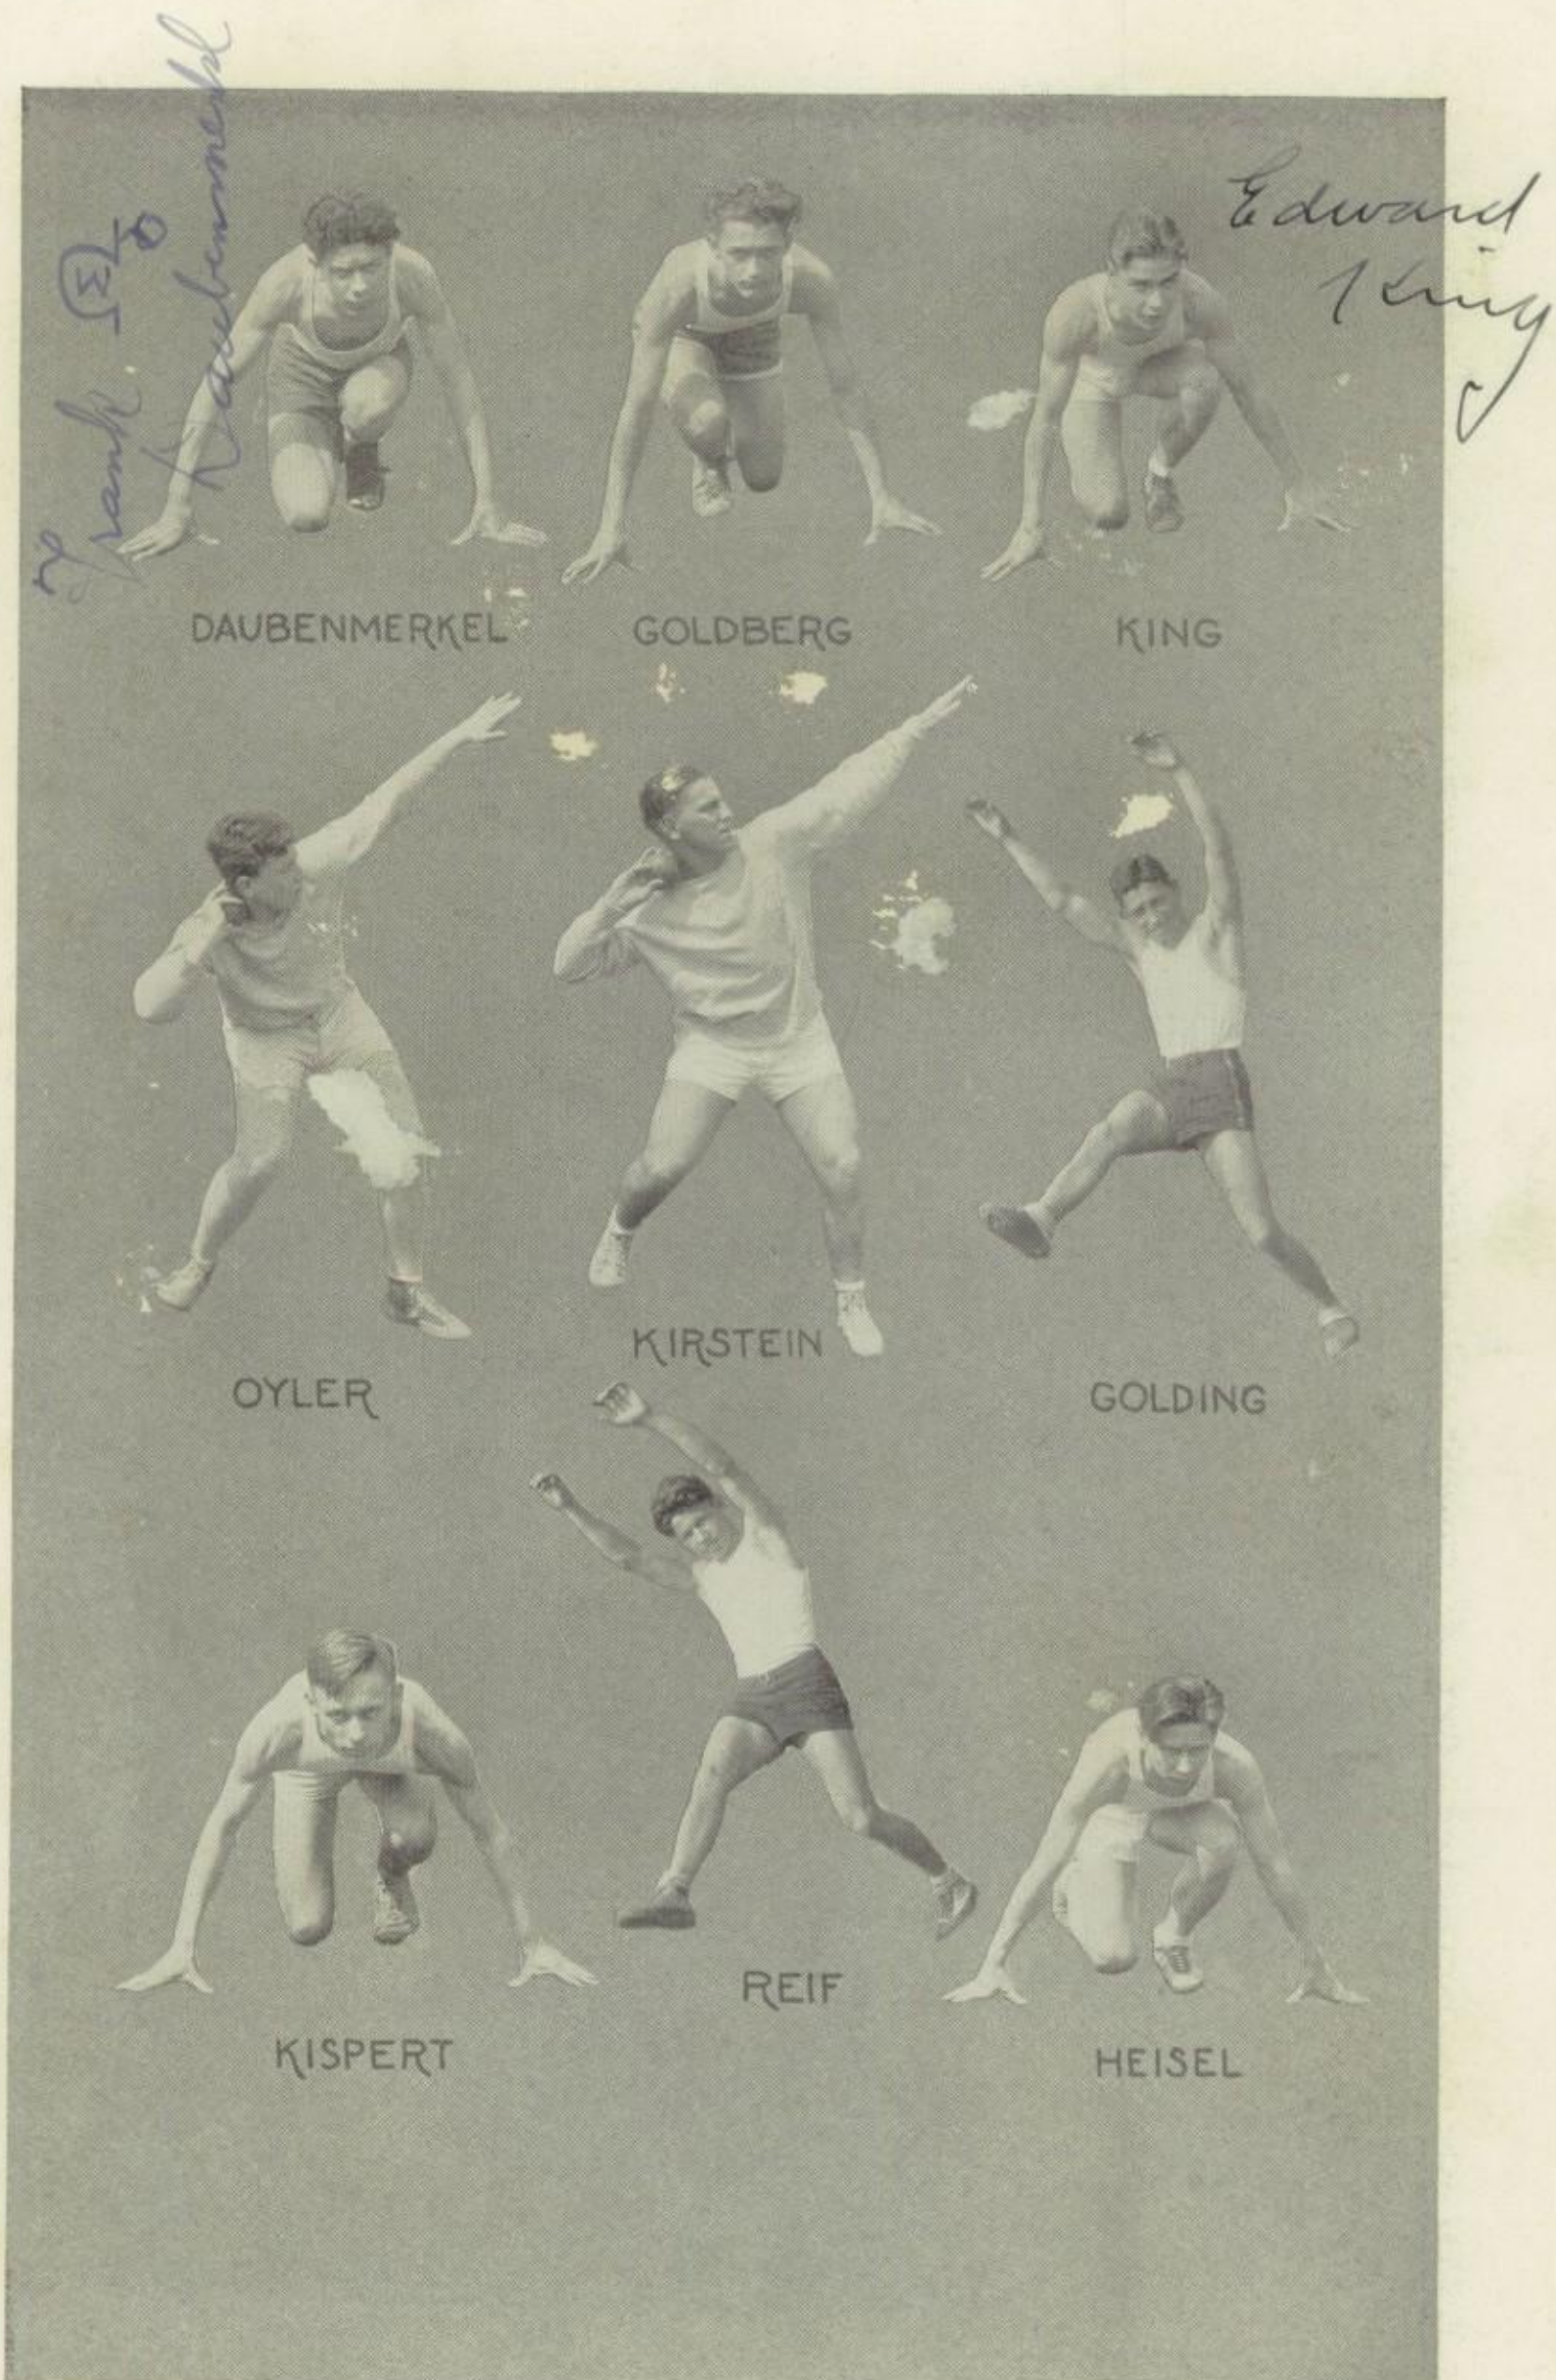

The Junior team again brought home the cup to West High with a total of 96 1-2 points. This year was featured by Bob Gau's setting a new free style record at 27 minutes. Russ Kirbert, another flashy boy, placed first in breaststroke and first in backstroke; for three consecutive meets Stone and Jones looked good in the 50 yard free style while Frank Geiser showed good form in diving.

The success of the team, to a great extent, is due to the efforts of Mr. Nohr and Manager Fuss.

Top row: Ruehlman, Thomlinson, Bellem, Van Horn, Jung.

Baseball

THE BASEBALL TEAM this year started practice early in the spring in order to replace the five regular positions left through graduation. With the addition of a few new candidates the prospects of this year's team loom brighter than that of the last two years. Let us hope that Mr. Nohr can round the team into a good championship threat.

The results of the 1930 baseball team were as follows:

Western Hills 13; St. Xavier.....	14
Western Hills 9; Purcell	2
Western Hills 7; Walnut Hills	3

Track

WITH the coming of the spring Coach McCartney received 35 track candidates to answer his call. Among these candidates are some swift and shifty men. The prospects for the field events seem to show much promise. With just a little timing and practice Coach McCartney will have a team that will throw a threat into the interscholastic meets.

The schedule for 1931 is as follows:

Tennis

IN THE SPRING of 1930 Western Hills won unusual distinction in tennis. Earl Bossong won the state singles championship and also, aided by his partner, Russell Hines, the doubles championship. This year both these boys are lost to us but we have high hopes that with the Stille brothers, coming champions, to take their places, the 1931 team will maintain the standard of its predecessors. The following is the schedule:

Senior Girls Athletic Association

THE MEMBERS of the G. A. A. are girls who have chosen this way to become better citizens of their community and city, in order that through scientific exercise and games they may develop into healthy young women and future mothers, that they may learn and practice sportsmanship, and that they may derive as much good as possible from life.

In the year 1930-1931 they have accomplished much. Parents Night they gave an exhibition of their athletic work. Later they organized and conducted a Play Day for 75 girls of Western Hills. On February 25-26, they presented "The World Fantasy." During Girls' Week they won honorable mention for the largest representation at a city wide Play Day, first place in the city posture contest, and participated in the program at a Mothers' and Daughters' banquet at the Sinton Hotel. —VIOLET GREENE

A tea, given in early autumn, welcomed the seventh grade members and marked the beginning of a long series of good times!

The G. A. A. has helped girls in securing their letters, and, since effort is the thing most desired, every girl who so wished, has been able to take an active part in the work of the organization, regardless of the excellence of her ability.

The Girls' Physical Education Department

THE GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT of 1930-31 has made itself known and admired all over Cincinnati. The beginning of the fall activities found the girls being weighed, measured, and classified according to posture. All defects were to be corrected by the end of the school year if possible. Games were started with seventh and eighth grade kick ball teams, ninth and tenth grade volley ball teams, and eleventh and twelfth grade arial dart teams. The Senior G. A. A. sponsored a Play Day for the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades in order to promote good fellowship between the older and younger girls.

The coming of winter opened a new field of work for girls. Junior and Senior Swimming meets were held in December. At this time dancing was taught all the gym classes. This led to the organization of "The World Fantasy," one of the biggest events of the year at Western Hills.

"Sorrow, laughter, happiness,
Binds us all with one strong cord.
Nations band in duress fell,
And work with one accord;
All the world is made akin;
Mortal feelings make it so;
Human love and human sin,
In and out of life doth flow.
Peace among the nations all—
Age-old dream of motherhood,
Will prevail if men but knew
Life joins man in Brotherhood."

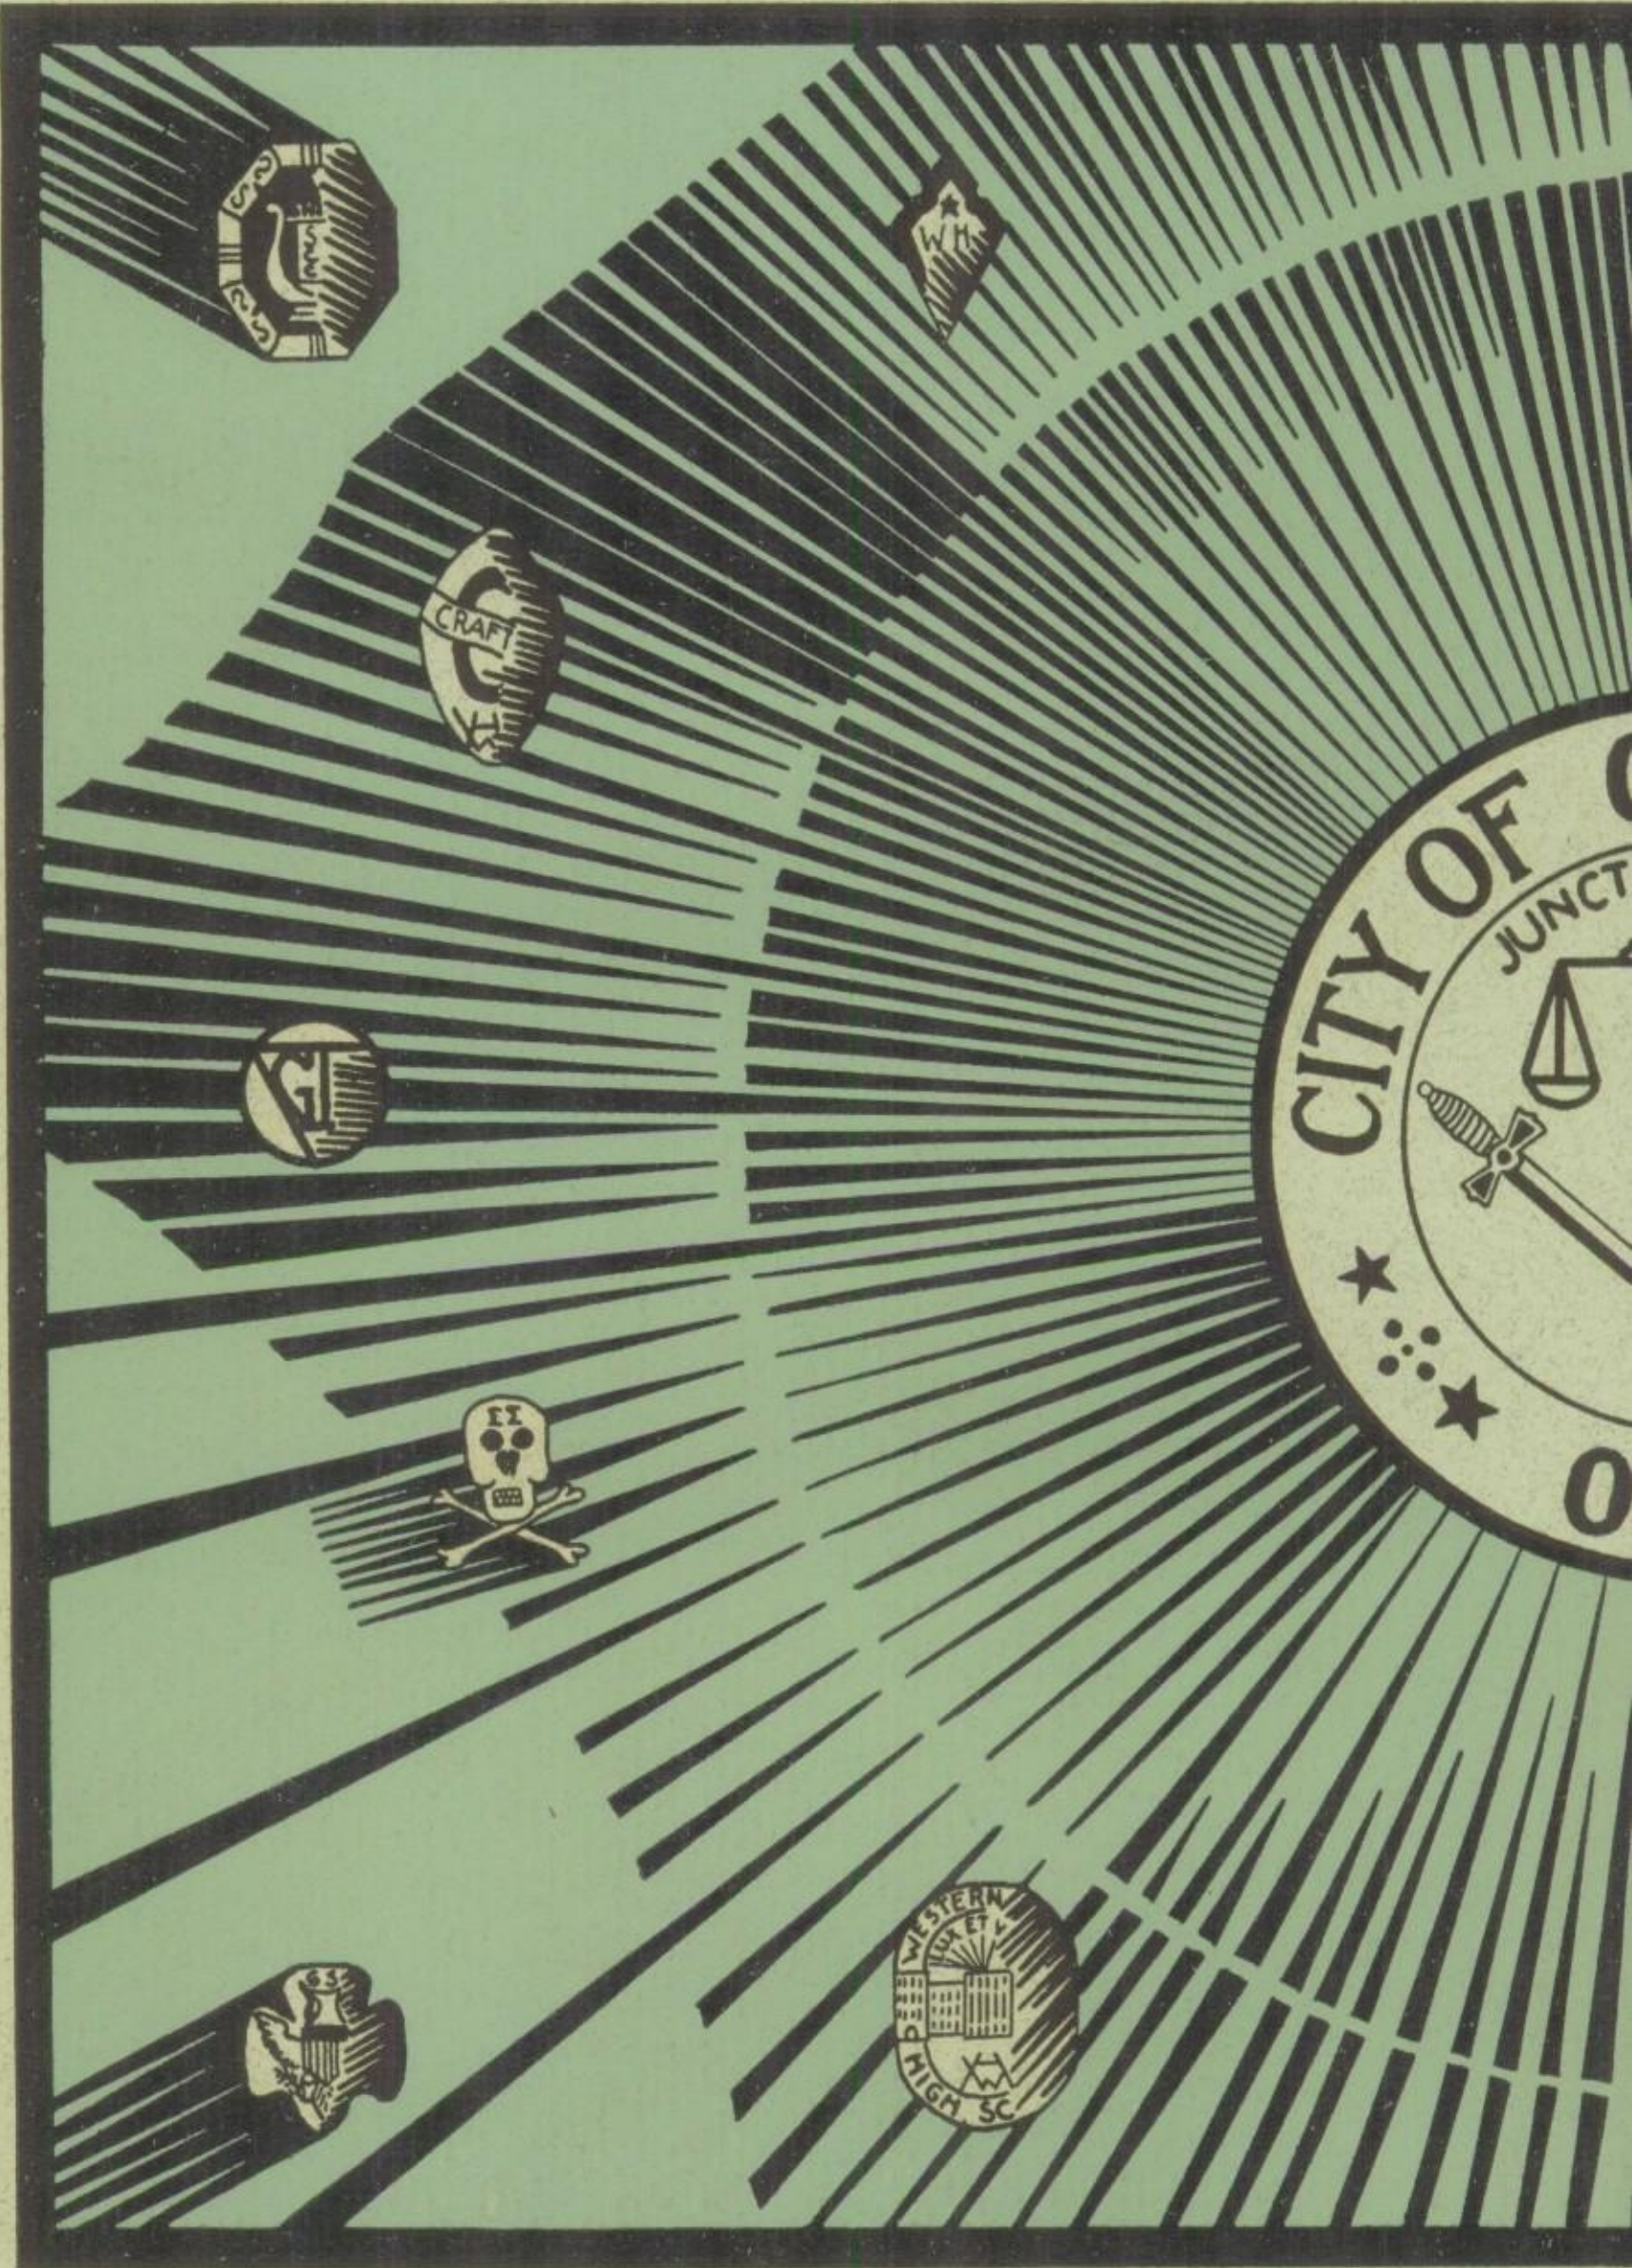

—Violet Greene

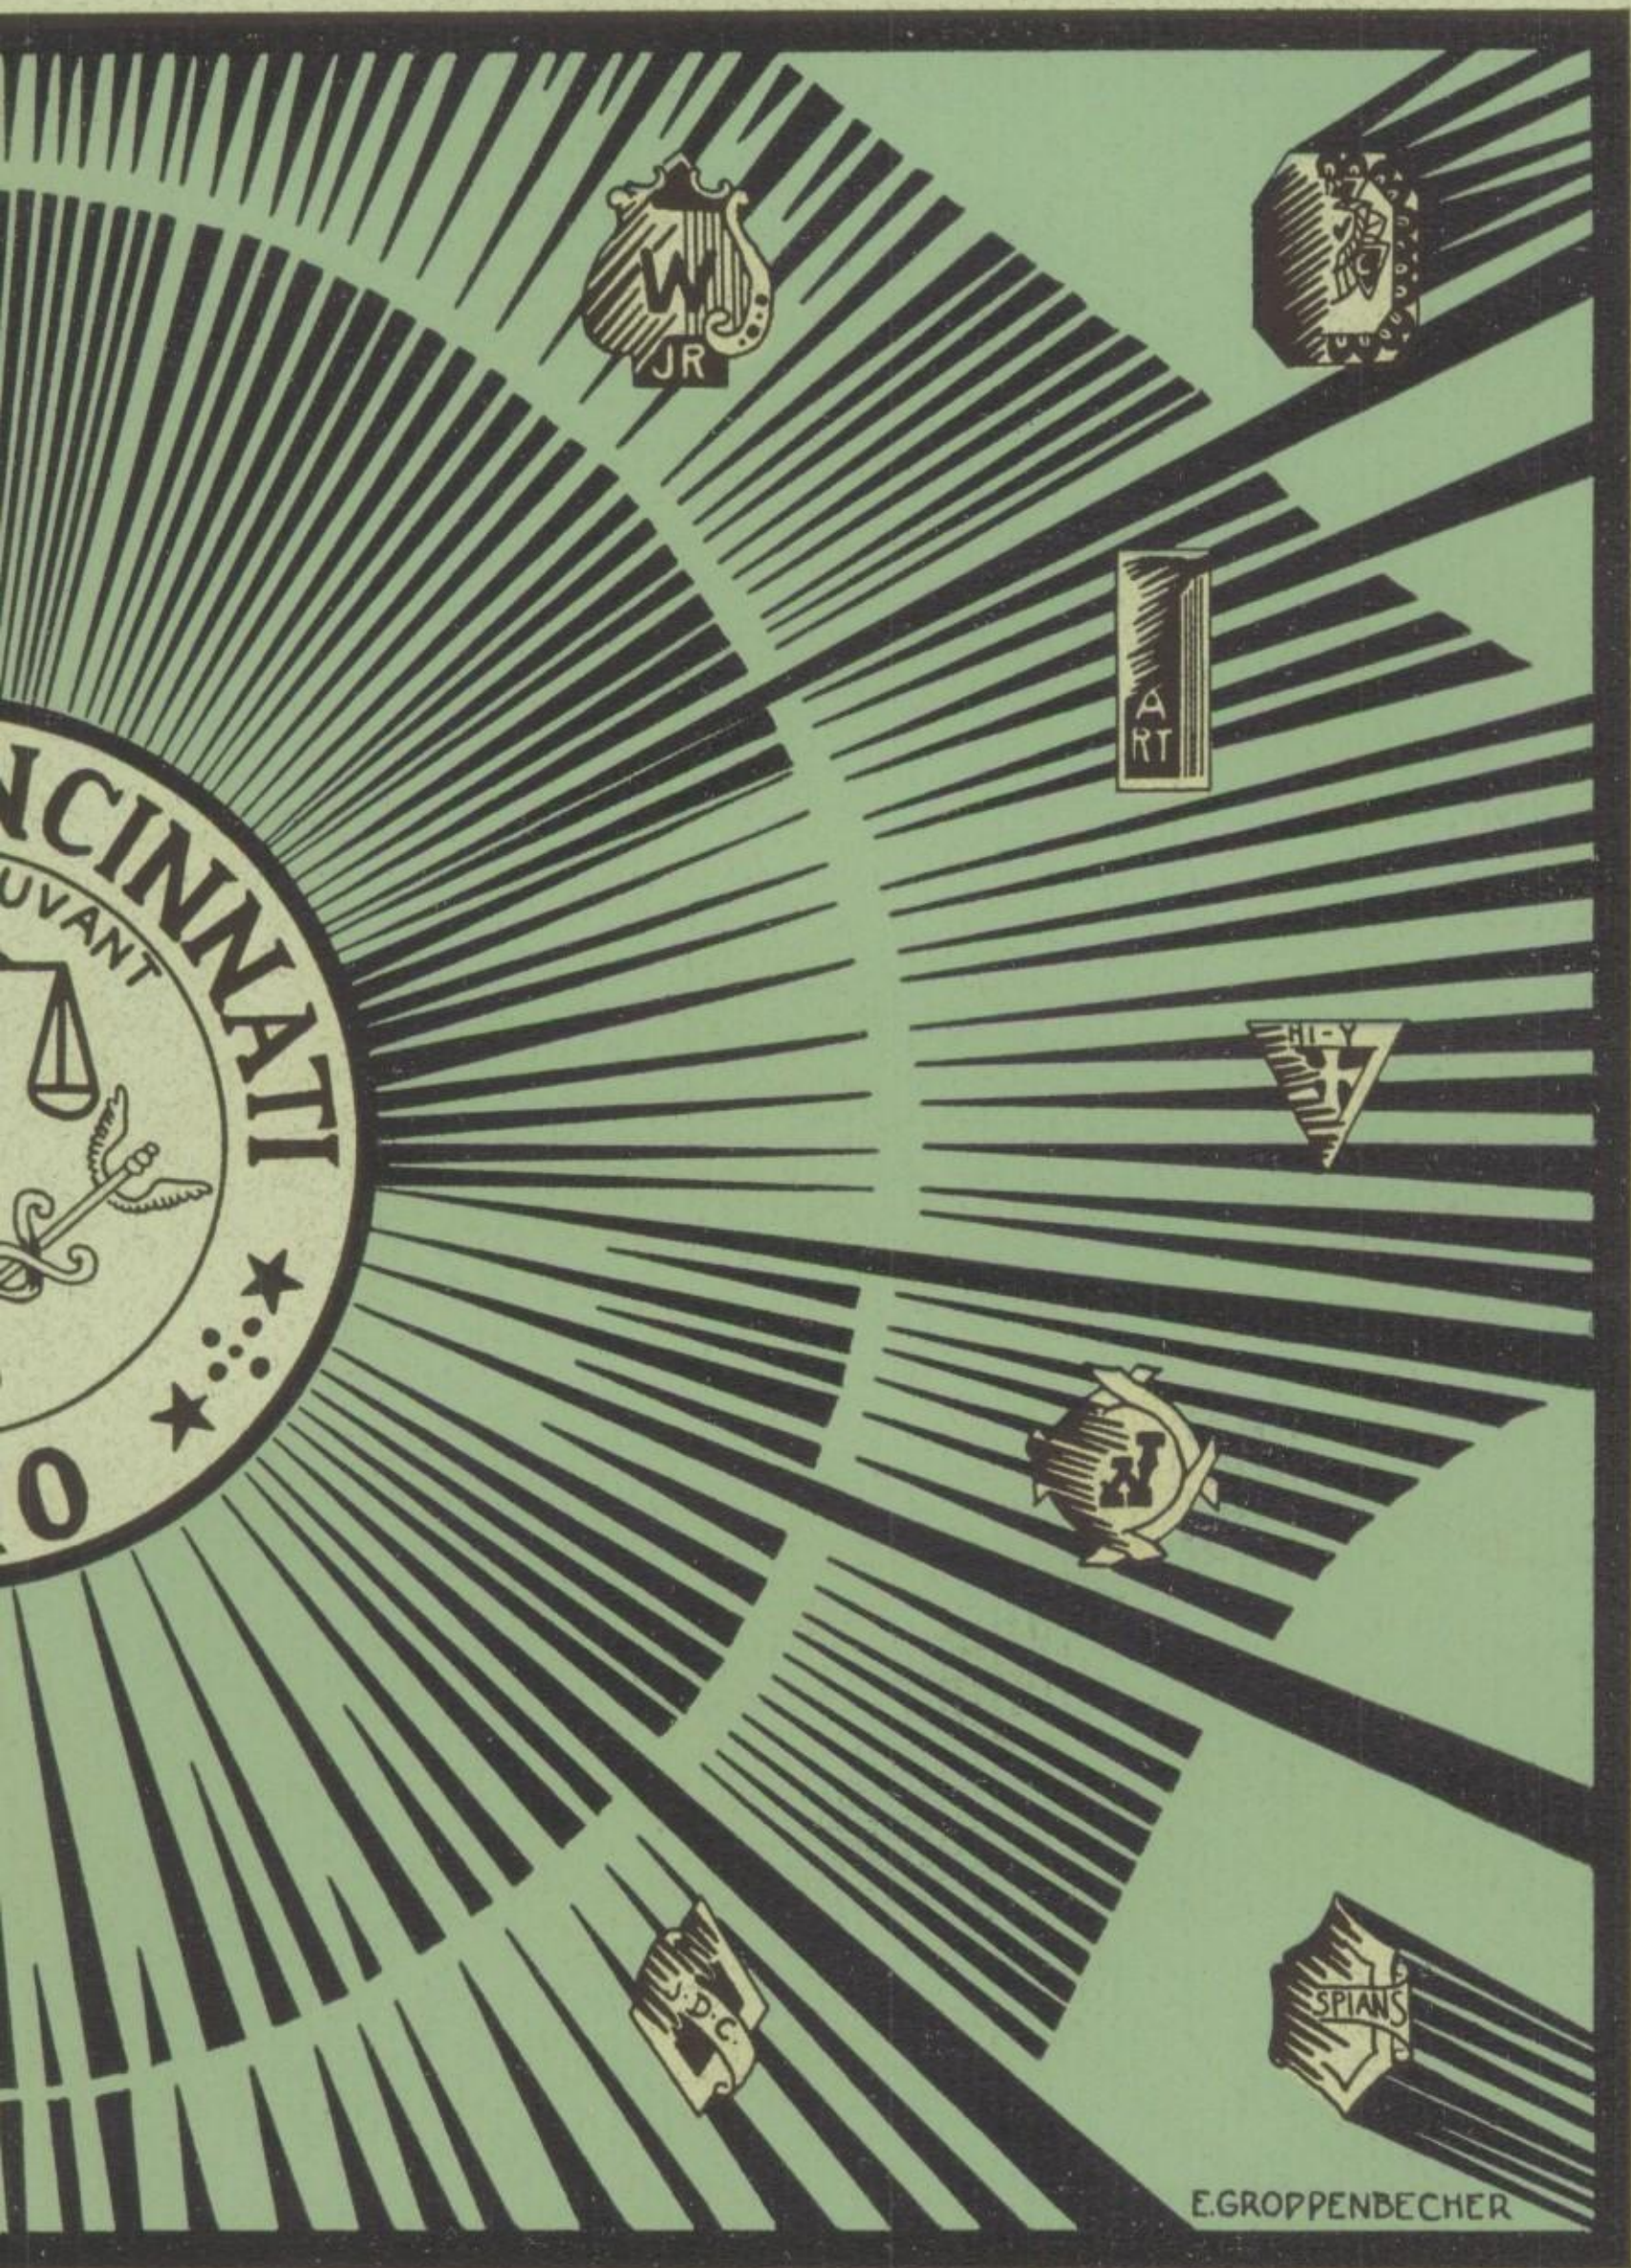

"The World Fantasy" was adjudged the best of its kind ever given by any high school in Cincinnati. The community of Western Hills and of Cincinnati, has been enriched by the idea of peace for all men, through efforts of the 700 girls who cooperated to put this ideal before the public.

Forgetting their efforts in The Fantasy, the girls gained still more honors for the athletic department during Girls' Week. At Western Hills posture tests were taken and three awards given in Junior and Senior high school combined. Fifty awards were given in the Health Examination. Western Hills placed first in the city wide posture contest. At the Girls' Hobby Fair, fifteen ribbon awards were won by girls of Western Hills. Western Hills showed her true spirit by having the greatest number of representatives at the Senior High School Play Day.

Spring athletics opened the middle of May with the Spring Swimming Meet. National Red Cross life-saving classes were started. All athletic awards and letters were presented to the girls at the Annual Girls' Athletic Banquet held June 2, 1931.

As a cumulation of the year, the healthy, happy girls present at the banquet proved the value and success of the Physical Education Department of Western Hills.

Civics and Vocational League Sponsors

THIS YEAR the office of corresponding secretary of the city organization of Civic and Vocational League Sponsors has fallen to the lot of Western Hills, and is filled by Sarah Roberts. The main object of the league is to arouse in the members and sponsors an interest in public welfare and to fit them for intelligent citizenship by bringing before them the civic problems of most vital interest through talks by citizens, excursions, etc., so that by the time they are ready to take an active part in public matters they may do so with confidence and the will to do it to the best of their ability.

Perhaps the most outstanding event of every year is the filling of prominent city positions by the boys of the League during Boys' Week and by the girls during Girls' Week. Surely such an event is an outstanding stride towards the promotion of better and more efficient citizenship in the future.

The Chemistry Club

THE CHEMISTRY CLUB afforded an opportunity for those pupils who were especially interested in this subject to do extra work in it. Although it was not intended that it should be, this year the club was entirely a stag affair. Some of the boys, Bob Barth and Ed. Haskell for instance, claimed that this absence of coeds in the club was just the factor which made its tremendous success possible. Others of the boys, like Coster and Sansone, declare that the presence of the fair sex would have spurred them on to greater efforts.

Most of the time this year was spent in qualitative analysis. If you had seen the boys work you would have been convinced of the presence of several embryonic Lavoisiers.

Visits were made to well-known industries in Cincinnati. The club was organized at the beginning of the present school year by Mr. Dunkel as sponsor.

Members not in the picture are: Helle, Broughton, Reif, Haas.

Senior Girls Club

THE SENIOR GIRLS' CLUB was organized last year by the Senior girls under the sponsorship of Mrs. Evans. Although Mrs. Evans was transferred to Walnut Hills High School, this year's class has continued their work in trying to be of some real service to the school under the able leadership of our present sponsors.

In the fall, to create a better spirit of fellowship among the younger and older girls, the twelfth grade girls gave a party for the ninth grade girls whom they adopted as their "Little Sisters."

Early in May, the girls gave the second spring "Mother-Daughter Tea," carrying on the precedent established by the class of '30. The proceeds of this project were contributed to the Art Fund.

The officers are: President, Helen Ruelhmann; Vice President, Sarah Roberts; Secretary, Ruth Hellman; Treasurer, Dorothea Wurtz; Sponsors, Miss E. Freund and Mrs. L. G. Fouch.

Western Hills Club

"HANDY MEN about the school," is possibly the best description that can be given this organization. Consisting of select students from the eleventh and twelfth grades with a purpose of bettering the school, the club has passed its third successful year.

Do you recall the smart-looking fellows who ushered at the opera and the many other shows we enjoyed this year? It is needless to say from whose ranks they came. And, Juniors, don't be angry at the mighty Senior who "bawled you out" for throwing paper in the halls; it is only in the line of duty that the members of the club strive for proper school discipline. By taking responsibility for the welfare of the school we, the officers, assume the same attitude we expect to show as citizens toward the government of the city.

Ralph Panzer, President; Charles Kopp, Vice President; Dean A. Behrman, Secretary; and Elmer Van Horn, were the officers this year. Mr. Kopp, as before, was the sponsor.—DEAN A. BEHRMAN, Secretary

Top row: Sanders, Bossong, Diechman, Kock, Wm. Mueller.

Parliamentary Club

AMONG the unusual clubs at Western Hills, perhaps the one most unexpected in a high school is the Parliamentary Law Club. The club hours this year have been very enjoyable and instructive. As this Club was organized primarily for the purpose of studying Parliamentary Law and procedure, the meetings were conducted according to the principles of law learned in the Club. In keeping with its purpose, the Club also drew up a model constitution. Each section and article was carefully inspected for any irregularities. Debates and discussions, in which the entire group participated, composed many of the club programs. Unfortunately, the club had so increased that it was necessary to limit its membership to only those who were already members.

The Parliamentary Law Club owes its success during the year 1930-31 to the cooperation and hearty support of its members and the untiring efforts of its sponsor, Mr. Fouch. The officers of the club are: President, Lester Schrieberg; Vice President, Tom Oyler; Secretary, Helen Murphy; Treasurer, Jimmie Howell.

Typewriting Club

THE TYPEWRITING CLUB is held under the sponsorship of Miss Yalen. With the aid of this club we can further the development of our typing both in accuracy and speed. Not only do we receive benefit through this club, but many unfortunate children have been made happy through our project. Each student served his share in constructing interesting booklets containing short stories, poems, and colorful pictures. Although the beginners could not help in the typing of the stories and poems, they gave much aid in the assembling of them. When completed these booklets were presented to the Children's Home just before Christmas.

Another feature is the contests held between two chosen teams in which everyone works toward high scores. I am sure the many things we have done in the club will help us become better typists. The following officers were chosen: President, Sam Gilliland; and Secretary, Helen Krueger.

Senior Mathematics Club

THE PURPOSE of the Senior Mathematics Club is to promote an interest in and an increased knowledge of mathematics. In order to achieve this aim, the programs are divided into two parts, one instructive and one entertaining. Each student has chosen a subject connected with mathematics and each week he gives a short talk on his subject. For entertainment, the club plays mathematical games and solves puzzles.

To encourage students in gaining proficiency in mathematics, the Senior Math Club gives each year a prize to the student who has the highest average in mathematics for his high school career. Any senior student of mathematics is eligible to receive this prize.

The officers for the first semester were: President, Eldred Mode; Vice President, Leslie Lingo; Secretary, Wilford Clark; Treasurer, Fred Barkalow. For the second semester those elected were: President, Clarence Signier; Vice President, Frank Meer; Secretary, James Dickson; Treasurer, Glen Slater.

Girls' Social Recreation Club

UNDER the sponsorship of Miss Shank, the Girls' Social Recreation Club has an hour of pleasure every Tuesday afternoon. Our purpose is to learn how to conduct a party, to be the chairman of a committee, to plan a program suitable to small children, to young people, and to grown-ups, for a group of friends, or an organization. Not all of our hours are spent in planning, for we play games, have stunts, tricks, stories, and pantomimes. This gives us an opportunity for self-expression.

It is in our good times in life that we learn to work and live together. It is there that we meet friends, that we learn the social graces that make living with others pleasant. It is there that we learn to be democratic.

The officers of this group are: President, Mildred Bergman; Vice President, Marjorie Hochstrasser; Secretary, Alice Denton; Treasurer, Stella Camden.

Nature Club

THE NATURE CLUB, under the sponsorship of Miss Dourson, has proved to be interesting. With a marked increase of one hundred percent in membership over last year the club has been able to give a variety of programs. At some meetings slides are shown, at others nature talks given, but when the weather permits most of the time is devoted to the study of the great out-of-doors.

The purpose of all these programs is to give the members a better understanding of nature and to teach us how to use those things nature has given us in such a way that we will benefit ourselves as well as others. The officers for the first semester were: Preident, Tom Reedy; Vice President, Melba Seving; Secretary, Robert Foertsch; and Treasurer, Helen Wetterstroem. Those elected the second semester were: President, John Brown; Vice President, Harrison Poppe; Secretary, Robert Foertsch, and Treasurer, Eric Ruehlmann.

Senior Engrossing Club

ENGROSSING is the art of copying or writing in large letters. The common styles of engrossing are scrip, rough-hand and broad pen text lettering, commonly known as "Old English." The primary uses of engrossing are for the engrossing of names on diplomas, writing certificates and resolutions, and various phases of advertising.

Much perseverance, practice, neatness, and effort is required of the student to learn to engross neatly and correctly. The reward is great because the individual learns to cultivate a taste for an appreciation of the beautiful as well as uniformity in design and appearance, which develop habits that "carry over" into the every day life of the learner. A child taught a habit usually retains it. The development of such habits prepares the student for life by aiding him to become a better citizen in his community. The club is sponsored by Mr. Zeller.

Hi-Y Club

THE HI-Y CLUB is an international organization whose purpose is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian Character." The club is composed of a group of purposeful older high school boys who are seeking Christian ideals for themselves and for the social group of which they are a part.

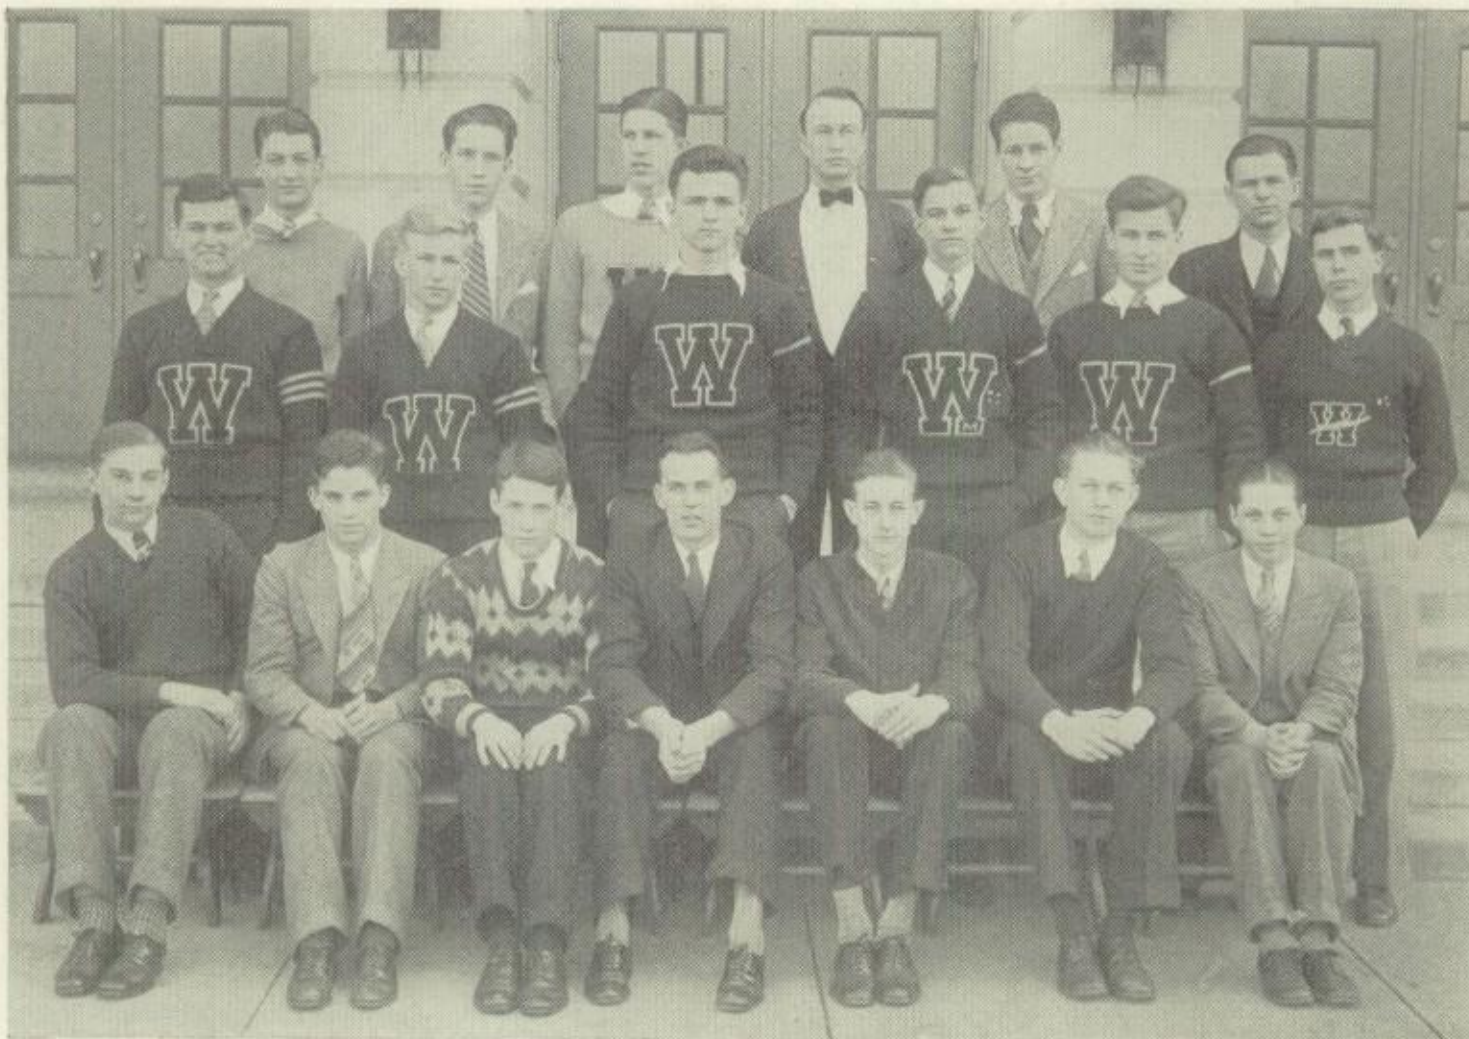

Membership in the Hi-Y Club is open to the mature students of the Junior and Senior classes who band themselves together in a definite cause calling for high scholarship, physical efficiency, moral worth, and lives of unselfish service.

The Hi-Y meets once a week. It has a short business meeting followed by a talk by some well known business man of the community on a subject concerning our daily life. After this the members enter into a discussion of the subject.

The officers of the club are: Allen Schmick, President; Ralph Panzer, Vice President; Carl Diechman, Secretary; Robert Maujer, Treasurer; Mr. Thomas, Sponsor.

 Top row: Wagner, Diechman, Heister, Mr. Thomas, Haas, Wetterstroem.

Lunch Room Squad

NO DOUBT the best known group of students in school is the Lunch Room Squad. Everyone must come in contact with these persons whether they want to or not. There are those who watch the lines and those who take care of the serving tables. Some take care of the tray rooms and still others are cashiers. Every day, during the fourth bell—that most important period of the whole day—they can be seen faithfully performing their duties. Who has not, in some way, become acquainted with these familiar faces? Who does not recall, upon seeing them, those happy moments spent in the lunchroom when all were temporarily freed from care and worry and on leaving were so much more able to cope with the trying tasks of the afternoon? There is little need for more to be said for I'm sure they speak for themselves.

The Senior Gym Club

THE SENIOR GYM CLUB endeavors to promote better teams for Western Hills, by affording an opportunity for all boys to develop their bodies for physical endurance and their minds for quick and accurate thinking. The club does not carry on any business meeting but is divided into three groups, which are wrestling, boxing, and apparatus work. Each respective group is under the supervision of a teacher. Mr. McCartney instructs the wrestling group in holds and falls; Mr. Thomas informs the boxing group in positions and punches; Mr. Nohr demonstrates swings and exercises to the apparatus group. At first each member had a turn in each group before he chose the one he desired.

The club sometimes has contests in the various sports which are in season and different games are often carried on between the groups.

The club sponsored a skating party, the proceeds of which were used for financing the annual.

Boys' Junior Gym Club

THE CLUB, sponsored by Mr. Thomas, was under the direction of President Ervin Riesz, assisted by Vice President Lewis Cones and Jack Woolley, Secretary. An organization of six squads was made, their leaders being Stenzel, Kirchner, Becker, Goldberg, Leftivich, and Riesz.

The club has operated under a six-team league basis for the following seasonal sports: tag football, volley-ball, basketball, and playground ball. In addition, stunts, tumbling, apparatus, pyramids, and games have been engaged in with pleasure and profit. The tag football league ended in a dead tie for all places since winter set in before a play-off could be arranged. The final volley ball standing was 1 Becker, 2 Leftivich, 3 Kerschner, 4 Riesz, 5 Goldberg, 6 Stenzel. The standing in basketball was—1 Leftivich, 2 tie, Riesz, Stenzel, Levine, 5 Goldberg and Kerschner. The recreation league has not opened as this article goes to press.

The Girls' Gym Club

THE GIRLS' GYM CLUB, sponsored by Miss May Paddock and Miss Hazel Burk, is giving us the most valuable preparation for citizenship possible—Health. One of the featured exhibitions on Parents' Night was that of "How Senior Girls Keep Fit," an example of health work carried on by the Girls' Gym Club. At the presentation of "The World Fantasy" the members of this club gave their utmost support and help in many of the dances.

The club has been divided into two parts, a tap dancing class and a group who participate in games and stunts. During the past year of the club's existence membership has been unconditional but in the future it will be limited to only girls possessing letters or those working toward them. The members of the club are very active in their pursuit for healthy bodies and minds which can only be attained by clean living and intelligent regulated exercise.

Junior Girls' Athletic Club

THESE beaming, healthy beings in the above picture belong to the Junior Girls' Athletic Club. We were organized last September when about sixty girls signed up for the club. We wonder if Miss Burk and Miss Ahrens, the sponsors of the club, cried for joy or for sorrow! The following officers were elected: Maureen Rose, President; Marjorie Moser, Vice President; Ruth Augert, Secretary; and Marie Leuders, Treasurer.

Most of the girls in the club are working for a letter. Our activities have extended far beyond the four walls of our gymnasium this year. We are proud to say that in everything the Girls' Physical Education Department has undertaken we have been represented almost one hundred per cent. This includes several auditorium sessions, a play day, swimming meet, and last of all, but certainly not least, the memorable "World Fantasy."

Senior Girl Reserves

THIS YEAR the Senior Girl Reserves have striven to find happiness in the Rainbow Ring which symbolizes health of body, mind, and spirit. They have tried to create a better fellowship among the student body and to develop a strong character which will better fit them for their duties as citizens.

The spirit of loving service,
The glory of perfect health
The wondrous gems of knowledge
The beauty of the rainbow's wealth.

All woven within the curves
With glorious golden curves
We'll strive for the best in girlhood,
Loyal Girl Reserves.

Junior Girl Reserves

Slogan: To face life squarely.

Purpose: To find and give the best.

THE JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES CLUB feels that it has had a successful and interesting year. Beginning with a membership of nine we soon increased our number to eighteen. We shall always remember the beautiful and impressive recognition service we had on February 27 in the music room. This pleasure was made possible for us through the arrangement of our big sisters in the Senior Girl Reserves Club.

The officers for the first semester were: President, Edith Seitz; Vice President, Ida Seitz; Secretary, Lucille Koch; Treasurer, Louise Fischer. For the second semester we elected the following girls for officers: President, Virginia Runck; Vice President, Ruth Lewis; Secretary, Ida Seitz; Treasurer, Lucille Koch.

First row: Hempel, Ackenhauser, Schafer, Seitz, Fischer, Bauer.

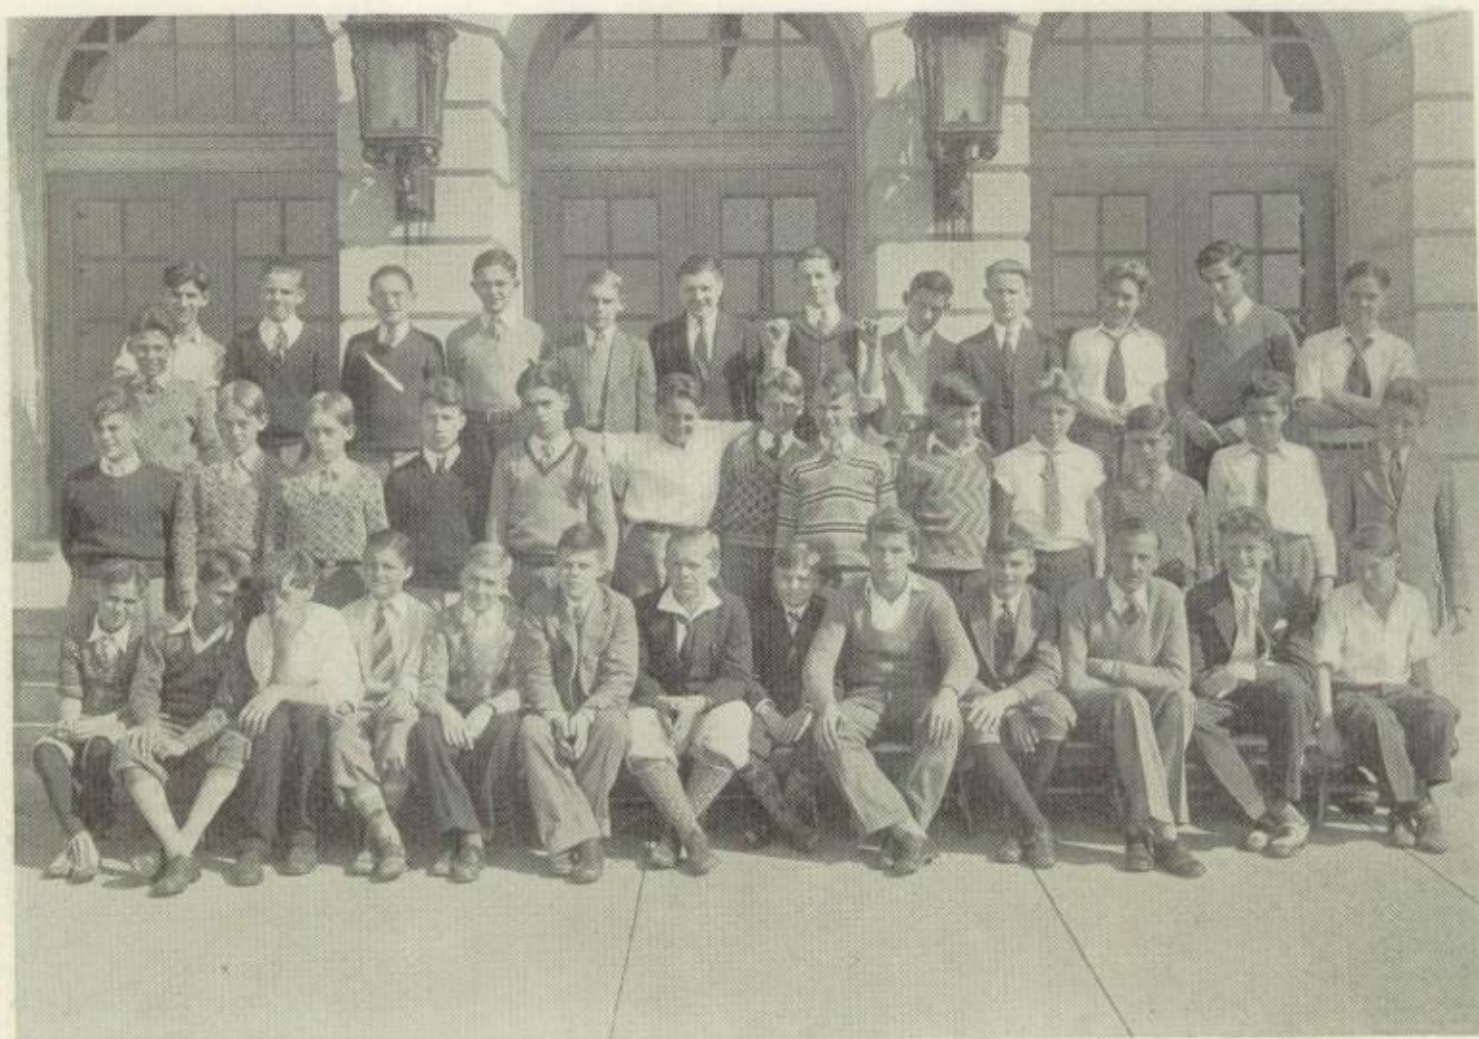

Swimming Club

DUE to the large membership in the Swimming Club four teams have been organized, the Scotch, Irish, Swedes, and Dutch and the respective captains Maujer, Harris, Schroeder, and Kattus.

A swimming meet was held in which there was great excitement and every man did his best to make his team a winner. The final results were, Scotch won the meet with thirty points, Swedes were second with thirteen points, Dutch were third with five points, and the Irish were last with two points.

The club is now working on Red Cross Life Saving tests which the boys will have a chance to pass before the end of the school year. They are also working on an efficiency test which is furnished by the Public School Athletic League for Boys. When this test is passed, the boys will receive buttons with three stars.

The Stamp Club

THE PURPOSE of the Stamp Club is to get boys interested in stamp collecting and give them an opportunity to carry on this very interesting and educational hobby in an organized way. At the present time a contest is being conducted. The membership is divided into two teams headed by Leroy Roether and William Schniedeker. The teams are awarded for attendance, collections, dues, speeches, and contests. The winning team will provide a treat for the losing team at the end of the year.

The club has held two displays at the school which have attracted considerable attention. The programs each week consist of a short formal business session followed by talks relative to stamp collecting by club members, and a closing period of informal trading in stamps. An auction is held once a month and occasionally outside speakers give talks.

 Second row: Kerber, Ruthemeyer, Harter, Schmiedeker, Sullivan, Waxman, Jacobs, Aue, Aull, Schiff.
 First row: Frenz, Daubenmerk, Ruthemeyer, McFadden, Frye, Hauck, Bettis, Penn, Wimmo, Zacharias, Meyer.

Senior Library Assistants Club

THE GIRLS in the Library Club are very energetic and interested in the work. The training prepares them to be good citizens, as it teaches service to their school mates and their school. Each girl spends at least one hour a week helping in the library, a purely voluntary service. The assistant's work consists of collecting and arranging admittance slips, and replacing books that have been used on the shelves, according to their classification.

Club periods during the first semester were spent obtaining instruction about the card catalog, classification, and arrangement of books on the shelves. The meetings during the second semester were devoted to preparing new books for circulation. This club gives an opportunity to girls, interested in library work as a profession, to become acquainted with the various details of the work in the school library.

Junior Library Assistants Club

THE JUNIOR LIBRARY ASSISTANTS' CLUB, sponsored by Miss Glass, consists of thirteen seventh, eighth, and ninth grade girls. Anyone who loves to read and who is interested in library work will enjoy this club. In our meeting we have learned how to choose and care for our books, how to prepare books for circulation, how they are catalogued and classified, and many other simple steps in library work.

Some of the club periods are spent in reading books and in telling other members of the club what we enjoyed most about the books we have read. We have planned to visit the American Book Company in the near future.

Our club officers are: President, H. Niemer; Secretary, E. Doll; Treasurer, R. Keller.

Book Circle Club

THE BOOK CIRCLE CLUB, sponsored by Miss Winspear, meets once a week on Thursday afternoon. The club has thirty members from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Members of the club report upon books, short stories, and poems which they have reviewed, and at times illustrate them with pictures, stereopticon slides, and dramatizations. Lists of reading of various types are prepared by the Program Committee.

The purpose of the club is to interest members in enjoyable reading for leisure time, to stimulate discussion and exchange of ideas, and to develop ability to read and speak well before an audience. On December 10, the club presented an auditorium program. The theme was "Literature Appreciation." Twenty members participated, each interpreting a work from American or English literature.

 Second row: Masminster, Lipps, Brengle, Davis, Doll, Gross, Krebs, Chisholm, Westman.
 Top row: Hobertheir, Schneider, Hurst, Hairdon, Kaiser, Bracher, Denghauser, Lee, Breeze.

The Book Lovers' Club

THE BOOK LOVERS' CLUB is as interesting as ever. We have had a membership of about thirty, and everyone has been willing and anxious to do his part. Although we have only a few boys, we never fail to hear from them in our programs. The purpose of our club is to read and like better books.

Our officers are: President, Virginia Wilson; Vice President, Mildred Wurster; Secretary, Maxine Simmonds; Sponsor, Miss Devine.

At our meetings, we do many worth while things. First of all we give reviews of many of the good books we read. We tell or read short stories that we find in books or magazines. If we have a few minutes at the close of the hour, one member reads to the club. On important birthdays or other holidays, we have a program appropriate to that day. We also dramatize interesting parts of books or stories.

Second row: Hasmeier, Kreis, Dye, Stafford, Bernhardt, Bidlingmeyer, Clifton.

Top row: Drinkuth, Spivack, Kaplhaub, Kinney, Cohen, Hallendorf, Brooks.

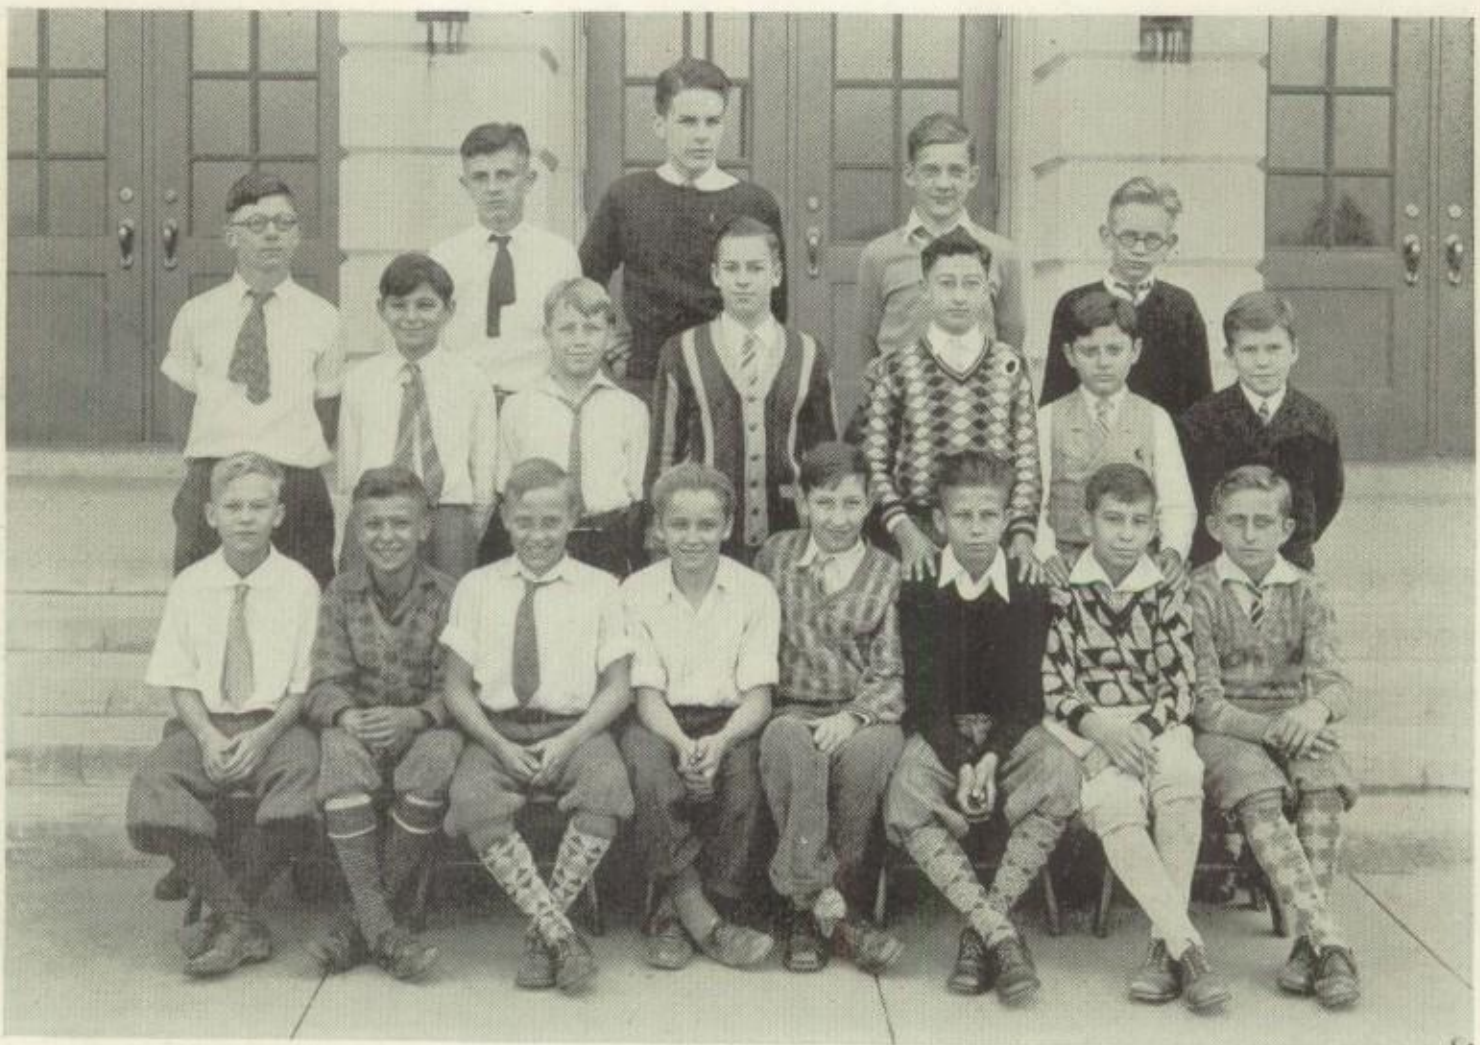

Metal Club

ALL THE MEMBERS of Western Hills' Metal Club consider this club the best in the school. When the club held its first meeting the following officers were elected: Karl Mahl, President; Nathan Gilhooley, Vice President; and Maurice Levine, Secretary and Treasurer. Every week the members meet and work on their problems. Besides enjoying themselves the members prepare for future citizenship by learning a useful trade. They learn in this club how to make sheetmetal projects such as pipes, dust pans, and buckets. Later on they will know how to make house utensils, drainage pipes, automobile parts, and metal roofings. To an average man a leaking gutter, broken pipe, or leaky bucket is hard to fix, but a boy with a half year metal work could fix them easily.

Girls' Junior Woodworking Club

THE GIRLS' WOODWORKING CLUB was started in September under the sponsorship of Mr. Henry Herrle. Most people do not expect girls to be able to handle tools but under his leadership the girls have learned to make useful and ornamental things for the home.

This art has brought to the surface a gift which has been recessive to the other household arts. The girls have heretofore just learned to keep the house clean and healthy; they are now learning how to make the home picturesque. Among the useful things which were made in the woodshop are waste baskets, book ends, and small end tables.

The officers of this club are: President, Phoebe Jane Gard; Vice President, Dorothy Albonier; Secretary and Treasurer, Shirley Baker.

Girls' Electric Club

THE GIRLS' ELECTRIC CLUB was first organized last September with the following officers: President, Sally Allen; Vice President, Ethel Funk; Secretary, Dorothy Higgins; Treasurer, Alice Danner.

Although electricity is supposed to be a field belonging to boys, the girls of the Electric Club at Western Hills have found their work in the Electric Shop of absorbing interest. The sixth bell on Thursday finds them busily engaged in learning the principles governing electricity and their application to projects that are being worked out in the shop. Among the electrical devices that the girls have constructed are electric toasters and motors. This type of club work is of economic value, as it contributes to the upkeep of the home by teaching the girls how to replace fuses, to repair heater and extension cords, and to care for other electrical appliances in the home. Through the knowledge of electricity acquired in the club hour, the girls hope that they will become not only more efficient workers in handling electrical devices but also more intelligent consumers. The Club is sponsored by Mr. Klippel

Latin Club

"DUX FEMMA FACTI," said Vergil about the queen of Carthage. The Junior Latin Club is composed of ninth grade girls who are equally interested in various Latin amusements presented in many ways. The club, now composed of ten members, began the year with merely seven, totaling an increase of three, which naturally causes us to be quite vain. Miss Hardman appears as the shyest of our group since no amount of coaxing could induce her to join our picture. The three additional members include Ann Mae Plummer, Laura Liernam, and Gloria Tucker. However, what our club lacks in quantity is made up in quality—proof of which may be obtained from Mr. Herle, who often honors us by joining and spending a happy hour with us. We also boast one of the thirteen pairs of twins at Western Hills and as a club of girls we have many possibilities of entering a Perpetual Talking Contest.

The officers are: Sponsor, Miss V. Hardman; President, Verna Bitter; Vice President, Elvera Meyer; Secretary, Lottie May Straka.

Second row: Meyer, Compton, Meyer.

Shorthand Club

THE SHORTHAND CLUB is an organization to which members of the ninth grade commercial course are eligible. This group of earnest and enthusiastic workers meets once a week and holds a business meeting once a month. The purpose of our club is to become acquainted with shorthand in order to determine whether or not we can adapt ourselves to it readily. Since, in our tenth year, we must choose either stenography or store service and filing, we feel that we shall be able to make a better choice after having had a little experience with shorthand.

The officers of our club for the first semester were as follows: Mary Alice Daughters, President; Helen Young, Vice President; Helen Graf, Secretary; and Edith Bullerdick, Treasurer. For the second semester our officers are: Lena Fessel, President; Josie Schenkel, Vice President; Esther Buchner, Secretary; and Marcella Wirth, Treasurer.

Second row: R. Young, Bloss, Dugar, Zorn, H. Young, Schenkel, Wirth.

Third row: Borgman, Stahman, Heckman, Tucker, Everhardt, Maidens, Bailey.

Top row: Bullerdick, Cordrey, Kern, Chausmer, Kling.

Reading Club

THE OFFICERS of the Reading Club are: Angelo Ferrorelli, President; George Eyrich, Vice President; Milton Glaser, Secretary; Orville Hauer, Treasurer.

We pass our time by reading good books. Each member had to give an oral report of one book they had read during the term. It was found that boys liked books such as: "Tom Sawyer," "Jo's Bad Boy," "Track's End," "Nine Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," "Hoosier School Master," "We," and "The Rock of Chicamauga."

Some of the stories the girls read were: "Helen Keller—Story of My Life," "Anne of Green Gables," "Gold Bug," "Trail of the Little Wagon," "The Crusaders of Old," "What Katy Did Next," and "Betty Wales Freshman." So one can see that the boys like books about Indians, aviation and Wild West Stories, while the girls like an entirely different type of book.

Girl Scouts

SIXTEEN GIRLS are enrolled in troop thirty-one of Western Hills. We, like all other Girl Scouts, endeavor to attain our ideals of Trustworthiness, Loyalty, Usefulness, Friendship, Courtesy, Kindness to animals, Obedience, Cheerfulness, Thriftiness, and Cleanliness. One can readily see that such standards will help to make us better citizens.

Our captain is Miss Leighty. The troop is composed of two patrols, the Sweet Cicely, with Louise Cleamont as leader, and the Forget-Me-Nots with Ruth Ruehlmann, leader. Alice Heis is the treasurer. Every Thursday, the last period, we spend one hour on tests, and the like. We stay after school for half an hour and play games and sing songs. We have some peppy games we enjoy playing. Taking hikes is a favorite sport. Earlier in the year we went on a hike and had great fun frying bacon and dodging horses. We expect to take more in the spring and have just as much fun as we can.

The Quilt Club

THE QUILT CLUB is sponsored by Miss Williams. The members are devoted to the lately revived pastime of their great-grand mothers, quilt piecing. The girls choose their patterns, furnish the material, and cut their own pieces. They not only improve their needle work, but learn much of color combination and arrangement in the discussion of their work and in the exchange of their work and ideas. They sometimes exchange pieces and so make their quilts souvenirs of their fellow club members.

The quilt shown in the foreground was pieced by a member of the club last year. She is at work on another design this year.

The club gives no programs because work on their various projects furnishes the activity for the meetings. In the spring the quilts are put on exhibition.

The officers of the Quilt Club are: Evelyn Duebber, President; Bessie Neuer, Vice President; Ruth Suelter, Secretary; and Dorothea Poth, Treasurer.

First row, left to right: Clermont, Young, Moore, Duebber, Kimball, Crouse, Duffy.
 Second row: Fulmer, Suelter, Poth, Horwitz, Fries, Wiggerman.

Junior Scientists

THIS WIDE AWAKE GROUP of youngsters is interested in delving into the mysteries and secrets of science. Interesting talks on new inventions, aviation, astronomy, and nature are given. Occasionally slides are secured from the city library. In good weather we often go on short hikes, learning many new things about insects, birds, trees, and flowers. The engineer of the building conducted us around through the basement and explained the heating and ventilating system. We have purchased a chemical set with money secured from club dues. Several of the boys have performed some interesting experiments with it. At end of the year we are planning a big "farewell" party.

Second row: Spurow, Levy, Pott, Moser.

First row: Hussar, Howell, Clendeiung, Woolley, Keller, Fehlman, Rueger, Rice, Reummers.

Modern Science Club

THE PROGRAMS of the club have been planned to cover a wide field of interest and to provide instruction and entertainment for all members. Photography, nature study, and electricity were among the subjects selected for study. During one of the meetings we inspected the heating system of our school.

We visited the National History Museum and were surprised to find such excellent material in such neglected conditions. We are very glad to hear that the Cincinnati Club has taken up the matter of providing a suitable building.

Our club has helped to prepare its members for future citizenship by giving practically every member an opportunity to act as an officer and also to share the responsibility of preparing at least two programs. The presidents were Marcella Keller, Robert Scallan, and Michael Schummer.

Junior Reading Club

"GOOD BOOKS are rare gems." We, the members of the Reading Club, strive to read and enjoy the many treasures hidden in them. We try to show the members who are not book lovers the value of reading. We also give those who are book lovers an opportunity to enjoy themselves and increase their knowledge. In order to accomplish this, the members of the club spend their time reading choice books, interchanging rare, select morsels, and making oral reports of especially well-liked ones. We know "a blessed companion is a book—a book that's fitly chosen is a life-long friend." We realize, too, that the value of many books rests solely on their faculty for compelling us to speak out the most hidden and intimate things. Therefore, we aim not only to develop a taste for good literature but to build standards of conduct, that carry over in better citizenship in and out of school.

Know Your City Club

THE KNOW YOUR CITY CLUB, or Civics Club, was founded to help make better citizens of its members. It teaches its members to know their city, love their city, and serve their city. The club has for a creed the words of Abraham Lincoln:

"I like to see a man proud of the place in which he lives. I like to see him live in it so his place will be proud of him."

During the year the members have made a study of the early history of the leading industries, and the interesting places of Cincinnati. A study of the "City Beautiful" was made under the topics of art, drama, literature, commercial, and educational activities. The club also cooperated in giving an auditorium program in carrying out the theme of city beautiful. Thus our year's work has been practically parallel with the theme of this annual.

Top row: Meyers, Lieder, Windland, Van Horn, Veneman.

History Club

THE GROUP BELOW has a weekly routine of historical events and talks to give each week. Some interesting talks have been given by different members. Every time a new member comes in he is initiated and given a talk to prepare. Talks about the following have been given: Theodore Roosevelt, William Taft, Robert E. Lee, Ulysses S. Grant, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and many other famous characters. The club has parties occasionally and fifteen minutes for entertainment each week. If the member does not have his talk prepared, he is handed over to the committee for punishment. Mr. Mouk, our teacher, gave us the Junior Review, a magazine that has certain education articles in it, to study and discuss in class.

The officers are: Francis Claxton, President; Mildred Bromer, Vice President; Billy Gilbert, Secretary and Treasurer; and Sergeant of arms, William Rees.

 Second row: Weiskittel, Maichle, Breenbaum, Gilbert, Backman, Kluba, Huber, Coyce.
 First row: Tahl, Gildenblatt, Schwartz, Smith, Wood, Zimmerman, Bruser, Uhrland, Bromer.

Seventh-Eighth Grade Science Club

THE OFFICERS of the Science Club were: President, Dick Nolte; Vice President, Charles Voegele; Secretary, Edward Joos; Treasurer, Frank Bernet. Our programs were rather varied, ranging from mathematical games to scientific experiments. The members of the club subscribed to a science news weekly, "Current Science," and portions of several meetings were devoted to discussing its contents. At definite periods, each member was required to report on a scientific news article he had read that week. Because science moves so fast, we can scarcely keep up with it, but we can tell each other the things we have read and thus keep more up-to-date than if we had to do all the reading.

Due to a change in Miss DeArmond's program, it was necessary to break up the club at mid-year. It is to be hoped that during the few months of its existence the members gained some appreciation of the vast scope of science, its infinite interest, and extreme importance in the civilization of today.

First row, left to right: Leher, Gerdes, Weiskittle, Bauer, Gloystein, Lindeman, Voegele, Rudig, Gramke.
 Second row: Bernet, Schummer, Nolte, Monat, Brater, Adams, Boner, Zammert.
 Top row: Smith, Joos, Zimmerman, Sweet, Manning.

Home Economics Club

THE AIMS of the Junior Home Economic Club are: establish closer relationship between the home economic courses at school and the home life of the girl; keep in touch with the current topics in the home economics world and its general scientific trend; disseminate the value of home economics to the students; and provide opportunities for play, recreation and social contact. The club motto is: "Glorify Work and be Happy."

Any girl in Western Hills High School who is enrolled in the Household Arts classes is eligible for active membership. The programs are instructive as well as entertaining. After attending classes the girls are made to feel that after all, club work is not just another class but busy work periods having social value.

The club officers are: Sponsor, Miss Deitemeier; President, Virginia Rice; Vice President, Mildred Buck; Secretary, Laurretta Gandee; Treasurer, Adele Taucke.

Top row, left to right: Zuber, Buck, Rice, Noell, Koch, Hempel.

 First row: Mohr, McDonough, Eckert, McCellen, Schreck, Guckenberger, Philips, Hoffner, Betz, Warren, Bagot.

Charm Club

THE CHARM CLUB was organized to try to develop the personal grace and mental attractiveness which we already possess. In a short study of society from its beginning we have found that—good society in the widest sense of the word, wants only our human best on a basis of culture, good breeding, and refinement.

Various members of the club have discussed topics which are of interest to all. Short sketches and demonstrations have made the meetings more interesting. A question box was opened and later answered by the committee in charge. We hope to have a tea and short play for the entertainment of our mothers in the spring.

The officers are: President, T. Jackson; Vice President, M. Marklein; Secretary and Treasurer, P. Carlier; Sponsor, Julia E. Clark.

Second row: Forder, Kessler, Smith, Winner, Shear, Goldenson, Katz, Stueve, Crawford, Carlier,

Travel Club

THE TRAVEL CLUB was organized by electing the following officers: President, William Meyers; Secretary, Albert Pennekamp; Treasurer, Milliard Kluba. The objects of the club are to show the places of great interest to future tourists, to learn of the natural beauty of the various places in the world, and to develop an appreciation of all these things.

The weekly meetings of the club are conducted by the president, who appoints a committee to carry out the weekly program. These programs consist of slides, stories, pictures, reports, games, and jokes, of the places being visited in our imaginary journey throughout the world. Each committee decides just what interesting corner of the world will be chosen for the week's entertainment and how it will be presented. The club teaches us how to plan and conduct a meeting, and take charge of a club in the best parliamentary practices.

Second row: Adamson, Dennis, Brokaw, Donovan, Pennekamp, Whitcomb, Relch, Huseman.

Top row: Kluba, Craig, Tuetrug, Collins, Webbelsmann, Loor, Meyer, Rathcamp.

The Airplane Club

THE AIRPLANE CLUB is composed of thirty boys each having various degrees of experience and interest. This organization boasts of splendid leaders who lend most of the enthusiasm due to an abundance of activity in the shop and on the field, some even in the air.

The session consists of roll call by the group commanders who in turn report to the squadron commander. A talk, the reading of an article, or new subject matter is then presented, followed by a general discussion.

The club meets in one of the wood shops so that an opportunity is afforded those who have a new type of plane or glider to try out, to do so at this time. The rest of the period is used in practical work by the groups under the watchful eye of their instructor.

The dues are small, the opportunities are manifold, and because of the leadership of enthusiasts, the club is bound to carry on.

 Second row: Hasemier, Brennen, Westenhoff, Siehl, Chambers, Estin, Fay, Williams, Reisinger, Tuenefelt.
 Top row: Kilian, Windmoeller, Rice, Kien, Geiger, Pistar, Helle, Siebenthaler Forbin.

The Bird Club

THE BIRD CLUB is an organization at Western Hills having for President, Weldon Werfelman; for Vice President, Dorothy Biederman; for Secretary, Richard Aring; and for Treasurer, Bernard Huber.

This club prepares its members for future citizenship by teaching them the value of birds to man, the protection and attraction of these helpers, and the recognition and enjoyment of them. Scientists estimate that if every bird be killed, the world would be overrun by insects within eight years. Birds eat insects which destroy grain and vegetables thus saving seven hundred million of dollars to farmers of the United States each year. They are also beneficial in keeping trees free from the larvae of harmful insects, saving millions of dollars of forest growth each year. They add aesthetic value to our parks and countryside, giving much pleasure to all of us by their song. Our members are protectors of these useful friends of mankind.

 Second row: Koester, Lautenschlager, Brokeau, Wenger, Biederman, Pfeiffer, Airing, Hille, Siehl.
 Top row: Hoffmeister, Muckenfuz, Bolz, Neuer, Koller, Michener, Higgins, Schroeder, Weiskettle, Woellner, Schafer, Sudhoff.

Junior Printing Club

THE PURPOSE of the Junior Printing Club is to provide the girls an opportunity to learn something of the printing industry and its importance, to help them appreciate good printing, and to make them intelligent consumers of printing.

The girls learn to set type and run the printing press. They have printed small calling cards, individual stationery and have made some linoleum blocks. They helped fold and bind the programs for the "World Fantasy" and the "Bohemian Girl." At Christmas time they selected verses and printed them on Christmas cards and later tinted the cards. Miss Rabe is the sponsor of the club.

The officers are: President, Laura Lawson; Vice President, Mae Link; Secretary, Antoinette Blaes; Treasurer, Dorothy Dawson.

Creative Writers' Club

THE OBJECT of the Creative Writers' Club is to guide and instruct its members in the art of writing clearly and comprehensively, and to stimulate them into forming and executing new and original literary ideas and material so that they may develop into promising writers.

The formal and familiar essay, the editorial, the book review, the interview, the short story, the drama, and poetry form the basis of study. The work done at home is supplemented by the instructive criticism of the class, together with the helpful suggestions and guidance of Miss Harper, our sponsor.

The officers of the organization are as follows: President, Dorothy Bauer; Vice President, Dorothy Fay Foster; Secretary and Treasurer, Alfred Rubendunst.

Top row, left to right: Spaulding, Schlachter, Phillips, Tenhundfeld, Rubendunst, Cheskensky, Schiff.
First row: Bauer, Lopez, Barnes, Foster, Rooney, Endebrock, Chapman, Lewis.

The Bank Cashiers

THE DUTIES of the bank cashiers are to see that the bank books are properly filled out and that the money is turned into the bank every week. Among the cashiers and students of the different rooms there exists a friendly rivalry, each striving to have the highest per cent of depositors. A student can be justly proud if he can walk through the halls on Tuesday and say that his room "Banked a hundred per cent today."

The idea of the school bank system is not to teach the students to save large sums of money but to teach them the habit of saving. The students make their deposits every Tuesday morning and can deposit any amount from a penny up into the dollars. The students find many uses for the money they deposit. They use it for graduation and vacation expenses, college education, etc.

La Tertulia

THE SPANISH CLUB consists of members who wish more practice in speaking the language and a broader knowledge of the geography, history, literature, art, and customs of the Spanish speaking countries.

The business meeting is conducted entirely in Spanish by the officers. The roll and minutes are kept in Spanish. The members respond to the roll call with a Spanish proverb, anecdote, or current event. After the business meeting a program follows which usually consists of Spanish songs, a playlet, or a short debate. The remainder of the time is spent in reading Spanish plays, magazine articles, or in playing games. This year we have read some of the stories in "Espana Pintoresca," and in interesting book of plays "Chispitas" both written by Carolina Marcial Dorado.

The officers of "La Tertulia" are as follows: President, Eva Stein; Vice President, Mary Estes; Treasurer, Willis Davis; Secretary, Katherine Kern; and Sponsor, Miss Fallon.

—KATHERINE KERN

Senior Latin Club

THE SENIOR LATIN CLUB is composed of students who desire more practice in using and translating the language and who wish to learn more about the life of the Romans.

Our programs have been interesting and varied. Slides illustrating well-known buildings of Rome were shown; plays, poetry, and stories were translated; each member gave reports on the customs, homes, dress, schools, and amusements of the Romans. This work has helped us very much in our class study of Latin for through it we become more accustomed to the Latin constructions, and also, after learning about the Roman people, we take more interest in their literature.

As the club is so small no officers were elected and the sponsor, Miss Baechle, has charge of the meetings.

Fencing Club

THIS YEAR the fencing club was a little slow in starting due to our inability to obtain a sponsor. Finally with some persuasion Mr. Poe agreed to act as sponsor. There was little new blood in our club so it was possible to do away with the preliminary activities and instructions. A new method of fencing was taken up which is called "epee" which is used almost wholly in France today. There was no new election of officers this year so Arthur Savage kept his position as President, and Miller Mallett remained in his position as fencing master. The boys pulled together valiently and traded knowledge with the result that the Western Hills Fencing Team feels capable to issue a challenge to all comers. Given a chance this art should advance far in its own field here in America and there could be no better place to start it than at Western Hills.

Top row, left to right: Ziegler, McFadden, Gradman.
First row: Little, Lipps, Mallett, Savage, Grau, Thomas.

The Girls' Swimming Club

THE GIRLS' SWIMMING CLUB consists of advanced swimmers under the sponsorship of Miss Ahrens, herself a very good swimmer. The club has an enrollment of twenty-two members. The work of the club, which consists of the improvement of various strokes; namely, the crawl, the side, racing back, elementary back, and the breast; and also the art of accomplishing various dives such as the swan, back dive, back jackknife, racing, and front jackknife, prove to be enjoyable as well as healthful and interesting. During the last ten minutes of the period the girls engage in games and races that sustain the interest and enthusiasm of all.

At the end of the first semester a considerable amount of time was devoted to the learning of life-saving; a project which although it takes time and concentration, is always helpful. The officers are: Jean Murphy, President; Marie Geiser, Vice President; and Edith Baker, Secretary and Treasurer.

Top row: E. Stagge, E. Baker, Stoffel, Rudbarg, Wellington, Stone, Murphy.

Boys' Food Club

AN INTERESTING Boys' Food Club was formed to permit those boys who were interested in the study of foods to have cooking. Boys as well as girls need to know the influence of good food on health. There were several aims for the boys' club, such as: to familiarize the boys with the foods themselves, their preparation, importance in the diet, and proper combinations so that they could select a well balanced meal. Another aim was to develop a skill in the handling of utensils and equipment. An appreciation of his responsibility to his home, family and community was developed. Holiday and camp cookery also had their places in the club work.

Field trips are to be taken which will give the boys an insight to restaurant, cafeteria, and hotel managing. Special diets for the athletic youth were considered, for the right kind of food together with other important health rules is needed for the vigorous, peppy athletic boy.

The production of a yearbook involves many details, and engages the work of many craftsmen, each a specialist in his line. It is not given to any one human to be expert or competent in every department of yearbook production. It demands intelligent cooperation of all those engaged in its production. That is what we offer—intelligent cooperation—in printing yearbooks. It has been our great pleasure to serve Western Hills for two years—in the production of the All-American class yearbook for 1930—and this volume for 1931.

STEINWAY

THE INSTRUMENT OF THE IMMORTALS

It Means Something to Own a Steinway

For more than 75 years cultivated people have turned to the Steinway as the finest piano available anywhere in the world. And their choice is a reflection of that of the foremost musicians. Virtually every great name in music, from Wagner to the present day, has been intimately associated with the name of Steinway. The Steinway is a piano of a lifetime, and therein lies the true index of economy.

In Addition to the Steinway we also offer the following well-known makes—
The famous WEBER—GEORGE STECK—STROUD—WHEELOCK
and DUO-ART REPRODUCING PIANOS

Senior Poems

Joe Tuertscher

Diligent, conscientious and always busy
Is this jazzy boy, who plays 'em dizzy,
With drums he's a wow
For it's noise, and how,
When he wields the sticks and goes ritzy

Verna Niemes

Verna Niemes, a friend tried and true
Always present when there's work to do,
She's full of fun,
Known by everyone,
And many suitors come to woo.

Ted Pierce

A dark-haired, brown-eyed lass
A member of this class,
A singer, too
Unknown by few,
Ted Pierce, none can surpass.

Helen Ruehlmann

That a popular girl at West High
Is Miss Ruehlmann not one can deny,
In school projects she aids,
Makes excellent grades
She's a girl on whom we can rely.

Elmer Van Horn

Lift the glasses from where they lie,
Elmer Van Horn let us raise them high,
Let go three cheers,
Wipe away the tears,
And drink to a hero that will never die.

Alys Lobaugh

Now here's a girl who's quite a treat,
Just ask the boys—they think she's neat.
Alys—the first,
Lobaugh—the last,
For pep and vim, she's hardly beat.

Elsa Stone

You all will recall Elsa Stone
Whom you never will see all alone,
She can swim like a fish
And dive—oh, tsk! tsk!
But not like a rock or a stone.

Charles Kopp

All the great men are dying,
Said Charles A. Kopp, sighing
The truth I will tell
I don't feel quite well,
Tough luck, girls, I feel I'm going.

Esther Husman

Esther Husman whom we all do know
Is a girl whose lessons are just so,
Yes, a little tall
But that's not all
For Esther is a girl without a foe.

John Alice Morris

John Alice, if you please sir,
With "John" they all do tease her,
One half is a man
The other a "femme"
But a young lady of not, you see, sir

If God made wise men silent,
Then Jake is wisely bent,
For as you know,
He says no mo,
Than a message never sent.

Ethel Witterstaeter

Now in our Class is Ethel "Witter"
During the bells she sure does twitter,
Not of nonsense or bluff,
But of right school stuff,
Does our little Ethel "Witter."

Annette Saatkamp

Annette Saatkamp of class thrity-one....
As a singer much fame has won,
In stature she's small
But well known to all
A girl brim full of pep and fun.

Jean Murphy

The class has chosen for vice president,
A girl who always is so pleasant,
Her name is Jean,,
The boys think she's keen,
Jean Murphy, the name, is quite evident.

Albert Wetterstroem

As broad as his name is his mind,
More learned none other we find,
For much knows Al,
Of many a gal,
And the other things you can't define.

Gladys Teklenberg

Now here's a young girls we call "Tek"
Of the Class we know her as "Sec,"
The piano she plays,
On good and bad days,
Now that's worth a check and re-check.

Bob Taft

The delapidated, jumpy Chev he runs,
May be an inspiration to songs he hums,
If it be so
Then we do know
Why at the opera the critic he stuns.

Bob Barth

Bob Barth to me thus did appeal
"Since I've learned that pain isn't real
If I sit on a pin
And it punctures my skin,
What is it I fancy I feel?"

Helen Murphy

A senior girl you all have seen,
Who always sings, "Wearin'-o-the-green,"
Irish straight through
A friend true blue,
Of course it is Helen Murphy we mean.

Clarence Spicer

Take off your hats to Clarence Spicer,
Where can you find a boy who's nicer?
With a certain young lady he's often seen to giggle
She plays the piano and he plays the fiddle,
What will come of this? You solve the riddle.

Dot Wurtz

Blonde, seventeen, and petite,
Dottie Wurtz is cute and sweet,
With Latin she struggles
And goes into huddles,
But in the end she can not be beat.

Dean Behrman

Behrman is a fine young man,
Who wins the girls as best he can
With a girl named Marge,
He found his charge,
They'll soon find a preacher to publish the bann.

Violet Green

The "Maroon" editor, Miss Violet Green,
Who in this shares honors with Dean,
If a rhyme you desire
Will pick up her lyre,
And chant verses whatever the theme.

Bob Maujer

An athlete sure is Bob Maujer
Who plays football like a cougar,
He's a star swimmer,
Outstanding outfielder,
And well known as a girl dodger.

Earl Bossong

Bossong's a tennis sensation,
With a state wide reputation,
But when he's in school,
He acts like a fool,
Teachers think, he's Satan's creation.

Carl Williams

Begad, by cracky, by heck it's too bad,
Footballers like Carl can seldom be had.
It makes our school sad,
And other schools glad
To know that Carl Williams will soon be a grad.

Dorothy Bauer

We all know the girl name Dot Bauer
Who never goes out in a shower,
For she says that the rain,
Will soften her brain,
And she'll lose all of her merital power.

Ethel Klotter

We all have heard of Ethel Klotter
Who'll be true to her Alma Mater
Her smile is charming
With ways quite 'larming
But, my, how many friends have sought her.

William Haas

There is a young man named Bill Haas
Without him the band is at loss,
With baton in hand
As he passes the stand
He struts to obtain the applause.

Lester Schreiberberg

Blonde Les in a cap of bright red
Was caught in a storm, it is said,
When he came home that night,
His cap was quite white,
For the dye faded on to his head.

Mary Perkins

A girl at our school named Miss Perkins
Just simply adores eating gherkins,
If in spite of advice,
She eats so much spice,
She'll pickle her internal workin's.

Ralph Panzer

And now comes our editor, Panzer
Who should be a wonderful dancer,
When he swims in the tank
Will he take first rank?
Well we'd be willing to chance 'er.
